1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: We're on the
2 record. Okay. Well, I'm at something of a 3 loss here to try to figure out what's the 4 right thing to do with everybody. We've got a 5 three-way impasse.

6 MR. YELENOSKY: Shall I go out
7 in the hall and tell people?

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah.

9 MR. GOLD: No, let's take a 10 straw vote first.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: We'll vote
12 again. As long as you tell them we're voting 13 again, if they don't come in, that's okay; I 14 guess they don't care.

15 MR. GOLD: Where is Paula?

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: There she is.

17 MR. GOLD: Oh, there she is.
18 Okay. Now we can vote.

19 MR. ORSINGER: Can we have some 20 discussion before we vote?

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, what 22 new can be said? For at least an hour there 23 was nothing new said.

24 MR. ORSINGER: Well, Bill and I
25 have a disagreement as to whether two and

1 three are closer to together or one and three 2 are closer together.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I know. I
4 heard the two of you.

5 MR. ORSINGER: That's a new 6 discussion.

7 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Nobody is 8 interested in that, Richard.

9 MR. ORSINGER: But if we would 10 be permitted to do that, because if you decide 11 to combine one and three, to me, that's not as 12 logical as if you combine one and three.

13 MR. GOLD: So you would say
14 summary judgment evidence, discovery product
15 information, and no time?

16 MR. ORSINGER: I think two and 17 three are closer because they don't require 18 you to spend money to get something 19 authenticated that everybody knows what it is 20 but it's not in summary judgment form. To me, 21 that's a complete waste of money. And one
22 should not be in the running.

23 MR. JACKS: What if we were to 24 have a heads-up vote on two combined with 25 three against one; that is, instead of three

1 choices you only get two choices. Your first 2 choice is the old one; your second choice is a 3 combination of the old two and the old three 4 again.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, the 6 problem is that both of those have a time
7 delay built into them, which I think is 8 probably one of the reasons why the second 9 alternative was preferred by some.

10 MR. GOLD: Wait, I thought 11 No. 2 was --

12 MR. JACKS: Luke, I guess all
13 I'm saying is that we might find out something 14 that we don't know now in terms of where 15 people are.

16 MR. GOLD: Wasn't No. 2 no
17 time? You've got summary judgment evidence, 18 discovery product, but no time. So what 19 you're saying is make the choice summary
20 judgment evidence, discovery product
21 information, and no time? Why do you need 22 additional time if you've got --

23 MR. ORSINGER: You don't need
24 additional time if information is okay in 25 unauthenticated form.

1 MR. GOLD: Right. So that 2 could be a compromise on that.

3 MR. ORSINGER: It could be.
4 And I think two and three are closer together
5 than one and three.

6 MR. GOLD: Does that make 7 sense, Tommy?

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: There may be 9 one way to get at this, I don't know if this 10 is acceptable, which would be to just take a 11 show of hands of whether the Committee, the 12 majority of the Committee, feels that there 13 should be any mandatory time required of the 14 judge.

15 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's 16 why I voted the way I did. This would be the 17 only area I'm aware of know of that has a 18 mandatory continuance. I mean, every other 19 continuance depends on the facts.

20 MR. ORSINGER: How I feel about 21 time depends on how broad your pool is and the 22 condition the evidence has to be in in order 23 for you to survive. So to me, they're 24 interrelated.

25 MR. GOLD: I agree with

1 Richard.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, let me
3 first just take another vote, because some 4 people, after seeing the way it voted, have a 5 different idea. Maybe not. But let's just 6 try it.

7 Okay. Summary judgment evidence plus
8 mandatory time to get other evidence, other 9 information in summary judgment evidence 10 form. How many like that?

11 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: We can only 12 vote once, right?

13 MR. ORSINGER: That's
14 Proposal 1.

15 MR. JACKS: We're doing exactly 16 the same vote we did before?

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Same vote.
18 We're just taking another look at it.

19 MR. JACKS: Can't we just ask
20 if anybody has changed their mind?

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Has anybody
22 changed their mind?

23 MS. GARDNER: I may have 24 changed my mind, and I might veto on my vote
25 for that one. May I say why, because it's a

1 little bit of a different slant. How would 2 you make the time mandatory for a continuance?
3 I think it might be impossible to formulate a 4 test for when the continuance would become 5 mandatory, because you would have to somehow
6 formulate a test for what is the threshold
7 showing for -- to get that mandatory
8 continuance. And then I think people are 9 thinking about mandatory continuances so they 10 can go get a petition for writ of mandamus, or 11 a writ of mandamus, but what would you show to 12 enforce that?

13 I think it might be unenforceable, and I
14 really am in favor of the alternative of a 15 continuance plus limiting the evidence that 16 the nonmovant gets to summary judgment
17 evidence, but I just don't think that you can 18 do it, so I'll withdraw my vote.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Rusty.

20 MR. McMains: Well, there is 21 another issue we haven't discussed yet. In 22 any of the mandatory time notions, what 23 happens if you get the time, you go get some 24 information, and you still don't get it in 25 admissible form? I mean, but it's still

1 information, you know, it's still out there,
2 but maybe you're another step away. I mean, 3 how often -- is it kind of your first one is 4 mandatory and the rest of them are 5 discretionary, or do you get three or four 6 cracks to get it right, or is every crack
7 entitled to a mandatory continuance? I mean, 8 this seems kind of never ending on that note.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Steve 10 Yelenosky.

11 MR. YELENOSKY: Well, it seems,
12 from what I remember from last time, the 13 reason that was articulated for doing anything 14 in this way was, and what I think I heard from 15 some of the judges, perhaps Judge Brister, was 16 that there was no mechanism for getting rid of 17 these cases that everybody would agree ought 18 to be gotten rid of because there's no
19 evidence in any form. And so it seems to me 20 to be kind of a waste of time to worry about 21 writing about what form it should be in if all 22 we're really trying to get are those cases
23 where they don't have anything and they ain't 24 going to have anything, so that it should be 25 written to be most favorable, just say that --

1 most favorable to the plaintiff or the 2 respondent by saying that if they come forward 3 with any evidence or any information, rather,
4 in any form that that would defeat a 5 no-evidence point, if we're truly trying to 6 get after only those tip-of-the-iceberg cases 7 where the person has got nothing.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, that 9 got defeated 12 to four.

10 MR. YELENOSKY: Well, maybe so.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I think that 12 seemed to make the most sense, too, but --

13 MR. YELENOSKY: Well, I mean, I
14 just think we're forgetting where we started 15 because we've been through this arduous task, 16 but isn't that where we started?

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Anne
18 McNamara.

19 MS. McNAMARA: Luke, I may be 20 responsible for the germ of the idea that 21 started this discussion. I never intended 22 mandatory. I was trying to respond to the 23 concerns that were being voiced that once
24 discovery has closed, it's closed, and you
25 can't go back and correct the unauthenticated

1 contract or whatever sort of formal defect you
2 have in your evidence. If the mandatory
3 aspect of this is creating a lot of problems
4 for people, there's no reason not to use
5 language which talks about the judge's 6 discretion and in the interest of justice and 7 all sorts of other somewhat difficult to 8 interpret phrases.

9 The whole idea is if you're going to be 10 badly hurt because the discovery window has 11 closed and you just failed to do something you 12 should have done like you should have done the 13 company associate but didn't do that 14 deposition by mistake, just give the person 15 the chance to do that, but don't make it 16 mandatory.

17 MR. ORSINGER: Luke, what about 18 the possibility of forcing everyone that voted 19 for one to choose between two and three, 20 everyone that voted for two to choose between 21 one and three, because we may find --

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So vote on 23 your second choice?

24 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah. Because 25 we may find that there is a predominant second

1 choice that would obviate further discussion.

2 MR. JACKS: Why not combine two 3 or three and vote that heads up against one?

4 MR. ORSINGER: I think that's 5 good too. How do you combine it?

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: You can't 7 combine them, because one has time and one 8 doesn't have time, mandatory.

9 MR. GOLD: What if we combined
10 them such that three would be or four would be 11 summary judgment evidence, discovery product,
12 information, and no additional time? I mean, 13 if you had information that defeated it, if 14 you had discovery product or if you had 15 summary judgment evidence, that would be it.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Here is 17 another problem: Suppose the plaintiff does 18 not produce something that's pertinent to a 19 summary judgment that's not produced in 20 discovery because the defendant never asked 21 for it?

22 MR. GOLD: Well, that would be 23 summary judgment evidence.

24 MR. ORSINGER: Because what you
25 could do is, the minute they file their motion

1 for summary judgment you could produce it, and 2 all of a sudden it migrates from being 3 information to being discovery.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Produce it
5 even though it's not been asked for?

6 MR. ORSINGER: We don't even 7 need the information category, because you
8 have the power to make all your own 9 information discovery. You put it in an 10 envelope and mail it to the other side and 11 it's discovery.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: How is it
13 discovery? It's not responsive to any 14 request.

15 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I haven't 16 been in a lawsuit that didn't ask me for 17 everything I had.

18 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: If it's 19 your own information, why can't you just prove 20 it up it?

21 MR. ORSINGER: Well, you could 22 do that too.

23 MR. GOLD: That's what I'm 24 saying. If you've got it and never produced 25 it in discovery, then it becomes summary

1 judgment evidence.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Chip Babcock,
3 any suggestions on how to get past this 4 impasse?

5 MR. BABCOCK: Well, I don't 6 know if we can get past the impasse. But the 7 no additional time, to me, is not workable,
8 number one; and number two, it could work
9 injustice.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No mandatory
11 additional time.

12 MR. BABCOCK: No. I took the 13 proposal to be just, you know, you're out of 14 time.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No. It's no
16 mandatory time required.

17 MR. ORSINGER: It's 18 discretionary with the trial judge.

19 MR. BABCOCK: And Rule 252
20 gives you additional time too. You move for a 21 continuance. A summary judgment hearing is a 22 trial. And if you want to say, "I've got this 23 witness, this witness, and this witness," 24 Rule 252 let's you do that anyway.

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Luke.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Judge
2 Brister.

3 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: We've 4 gotten off of the issue of what kind of 5 responsive evidence do you need and gotten on 6 the issue of the time. Now, I don't think you 7 can have either a rule of no time or a rule of 8 mandatory time, and you just have to think of 9 a couple of examples: I've got the affidavit
10 on file, but the copy I filed happened to be 11 the one that was unsworn. The secretary made 12 a mistake, and here is the one right here.
13 Sorry, too late to amend the record, because 14 it's a no-time rule. That obviously would be 15 crazy.

16 On the other hand, a mandatory time has 17 the problems we already discussed. Now, the 18 rule says what to do on that, and it works 19 perfectly well. If it appears to the 20 satisfaction of the court that any of the 21 affidavits, just make that summary judgment
22 evidence, presented -- I'm sorry, that present 23 an affidavit that the party opposing the 24 motion cannot for reasons stated present by 25 affidavit facts essential to justify his

1 opposition, the court may refuse the 2 application for judgment or may order a 3 continuance to permit affidavits to be 4 obtained. The long history of what that 5 means, and in some circumstances currently, it 6 probably is mandatory today, but it just 7 depends so much on what we're talking about 8 that I don't think there's a rule or a way to 9 write the rule other than a discretionary 10 continuance.

11 And then if a judge -- if you've got an 12 expert report and an expert designated and the 13 judge says, "No, that ain't enough to oppose 14 the summary judgment, and no, I'm not giving 15 you a week to get your expert to sign an 16 affidavit saying that that's his or her 17 opinion," I have little doubt the court of 18 appeals is going to find it easy to reverse
19 that. I just think if we start down the road 20 of trying to say when you have to and when you 21 don't, the rule becomes unmanageable.

22 The question ought to be focused back on 23 what kind of evidence can you use, and we 24 ought to do what we do now, which is if the 25 other party objects to some formal thing, you

1 say, "Okay. Fine. We're putting off your 2 trial. We're putting off the continuance.
3 I'm extending discovery, and I'm going to make 4 you," if you don't have some good reason to 5 doubt that they can authenticate these 6 records, "keep track of your time," and I'm 7 going to make him pay for it.

8 MR. GOLD: Now, that's an 9 interesting concept.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let me just 11 approach this time thing. I think that the 12 possibility of getting a mandatory time
13 imposed on trial judges in connection with a 14 summary judgment, it's mandatory you must give 15 a party time to do something, that doesn't 16 have a snowball's chance of going through the 17 Supreme Court of Texas. And if they pass it, 18 there's going to be a ground swell of trial
19 judges raising hell about it, and it's going 20 to come back down and they're going to back
21 off of it. And they, the Supreme Court, 22 probably won't let it happen.

23 But there is a clear precedent in which 24 the Supreme Court has proposed rules, even 25 adopted rules, and a big ground swell comes

1 back from the trial judges, or actually it was 2 a pretty small ground swell came back from the 3 judges, and they backed off. They said,
4 "Okay. We won't do it."

5 This mandatory time thing to me is a red
6 herring and it's not going to happen, and I 7 think we ought to be talking about this in the 8 reality, what I think is the reality, that the 9 trial judge is going to have the discretion to 10 grant or not grant additional time for a 11 respondent to do something that they need to 12 do to defeat a summary judgment.

13 Now, does anyone disagree that that's the 14 reality with which we're faced?

15 MR. BABCOCK: That's right.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.

17 So let's forget about mandatory time. Let's 18 take it off the table, because it isn't going 19 to happen. Now we're down to summary judgment 20 evidence, which we voted down, so we can take 21 that one off the table, unless somebody wants 22 to go back. I'll just leave it there. Just 23 leave these in here with no mandatory time.
24 Now we've got summary judgment evidence,
25 summary judgment evidence plus the discovery

1 pool less the burrs; summary judgment evidence
2 plus the same discovery pool, plus information
3 that can be made admissible.

4 MS. McNAMARA: Luke, just a
5 clarification, are you just changing one by 6 taking "mandatory" out, or are you --

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes. We 8 already voted on that. That's (j).

9 MR. GOLD: So No. 3 is --

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Does anyone
11 disagree with just taking summary judgment 12 evidence out, because we've already voted that 13 down 12 to four?

14 MS. McNAMARA: Luke, I'm sorry, 15 if you narrow it down to two alternatives, and 16 in the first alternative you had mandatory 17 times --

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: There are no
19 mandatory times left in any of them.

20 MS. McNAMARA: Okay. But the 21 first of the three which had mandatory times 22 remains, you just took "mandatory" out of it?

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Right. We 24 did that by a vote of 11 to seven a while ago.

25 MR. BABCOCK: Right. But it

1 had "mandatory" in it.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That was back
3 when we took four out of seven. We voted that 4 down.

5 MR. JACKS: May I raise
6 something, which is, if you take mandatory out 7 of all of them, then you can combine two and 8 three, because that was the only thing that 9 made them incompatible.

10 MR. GOLD: That's right.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No, that's 12 not right.

13 MR. JACKS: I think it is,
14 Luke.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No, it's not 16 right.

17 MR. JACKS: Well, let me --

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And I can 19 tell you why, because I've got my notes here.
20 Information that can be made summary judgment
21 is in three and not in two.

22 MR. JACKS: Well, let me say it
23 another way. At this point I think three 24 subsumes two.

25 MR. ORSINGER: That's true.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It includes
2 two, that's true. But two does not include 3 all of three.

4 MR. JACKS: Well, let me -- I'm 5 trying to cut through the business here and 6 see if we can get something that a majority of 7 this Committee can agree on and move on.

8 If we take -- I think we've kind of got a
9 couple of schools here. If we take, and I
10 want to see if I can state this right, 11 essentially three without mandatory time, that 12 is, summary judgment evidence plus discovery
13 pool without the burrs --

14 MR. GOLD: Burrless.

15 MR. JACKS: -- plus the other
16 information, isn't that the old three without 17 the mandatory time?

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes.

19 MR. JACKS: All right.

20 MR. ORSINGER: Choice one is 21 summary judgment. Choice two is summary
22 judgment plus discovery, and choice three 23 is --

24 MR. JACKS: No, no. I'm not 25 saying any choices.

1 MR. ORSINGER: Oh.

2 MR. JACKS: I'm saying this is
3 a proposition that I would like to put to a
4 vote, pro and con, and see --

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I'm not 6 going to do it that way, Tommy.

7 MR. JACKS: All right.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I'm going to 9 take a division of the house on two 10 alternatives and see what we come up with,
11 because I want people to be able to express
12 themselves between the two and not just vote 13 against one or the other.

14 MR. JACKS: Okay.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
16 Does anyone want to revisit the vote on 17 restricting the available proof on this party
18 with the burden to summary judgment evidence?
19 Okay. Then we will. Vote just once on each 20 of the three alternatives.

21 One is to limit the available proof to 22 meet this party's burden to summary judgment
23 evidence. Those in --

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's 25 not really fairly stated, because the rule has

1 a provision for getting a continuance if you
2 need to get --

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: With the rest
4 of the rule in place. Okay?

5 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: So it's 6 really you're limited to summary judgment
7 evidence with discretionary time to get it 8 that way if you need it.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
10 Let me --

11 MS. GARDNER: Even if discovery
12 is closed.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. The 14 first is the party resisting the summary 15 judgment has the rights of a present party in 16 a motion for summary judgment evidence or a 17 summary judgment practice and no others in 18 terms of putting on proof. Those in favor --

19 MS. McNAMARA: Are you assuming 20 the discovery window is closed, because we've 21 got a changeable discovery window?

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Either
23 way.

24 MS. McNAMARA: Is this a new 25 one?

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Either way.
2 Either way. That's -- just what is the pool
3 of evidence or possible evidence that a party
4 has access to or can use that a party can use 5 to defeat a summary judgment under (i), that's 6 one, summary judgment evidence.

7 No. 2 will be summary judgment evidence 8 plus anything out of the discovery pool after 9 we take the burrs off of it.

10 Three, summary judgment evidence plus
11 anything out of the discovery pool plus -- I 12 may have not these words right, but it gets 13 the idea -- plus information that can be 14 reduced to a form that would be admissible at 15 a trial.

16 MR. JACKS: Luke, last time we 17 did that it was not "admissible at trial," it 18 was "summary judgment evidence form."

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: May be 20 reduced to summary judgment form?

21 MR. JACKS: Yeah.

22 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah. And that 23 would include affidavits, Luke, if you do the 24 other --

25 MR. HAMILTON: May I ask a

1 question, Luke?

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes, sir.

3 MR. HAMILTON: Is there any 4 difference in any of those three if you had 5 what Judge Brister said with the understanding 6 that the trial judge always has discretion to 7 allow you to reduce it to summary judgment
8 evidence? That would apply to the discovery 9 pool or other information, so what's the 10 difference?

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, the
12 difference is what the judge must consider 13 regardless of whether the judge grants any 14 time. That's what we're talking about here.

15 MR. ORSINGER: There's another
16 difference too, Luke, and that is that in some 17 instances you're just not going to spend the 18 money to reduce it to summary judgment
19 evidence form. For example, their expert's 20 unsworn report, I will not have to take their 21 deposition under two or three; I will have to 22 take their deposition under one.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. No. 1,
24 summary judgment evidence and available
25 remedies under the present practice.

1 Restricted to that, those in favor show by 2 hands. One, two. Two.

3 No. 2 would be summary judgment evidence 4 plus the discovery pool without the burrs. We 5 can talk about what those are, but probably 6 they're answer to requests for admissions, a 7 party's own answers to requests for admissions 8 and possibly a party's own answers to 9 interrogatories. But anyway, that. It's one 10 plus anything in the discovery pool that we 11 don't exclude.

12 How many favor that? Five.

13 And the last is the first two plus
14 information that can be reduced to summary
15 judgment evidence form. It's those two plus 16 that. Those in favor of that show by hands.
17 11.

18 MS. DUDERSTADT: 12.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: 12. Okay.
20 The third one carries by a vote of 12 to seven 21 on the other two combined. Okay. So I don't 22 think we need to take another vote because 23 we've got a majority.

24 So it will be, Judge Peeples, summary
25 judgment evidence unless the respondent

1 produces summary judgment evidence --

2 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Excuse me,
3 Luke, what Richard said was on Line 13, unless 4 the respondent points to discovery or produces
5 summary judgment evidence.

6 MR. ORSINGER: I think
7 "pointing to" is important.

8 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Yeah.
9 This is just the flipside of what the movant
10 is supposed to negate. The movant is supposed 11 to say, "There isn't anything in the 12 discovery," and the respondent says, "Hey, 13 there is, and it's right here."

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I'm on a 15 different problem now.

16 MR. ORSINGER: Proposal 2 is 17 the flipside. Proposal 3 is broader.

18 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Yeah,
19 that's right. But this part of it is the 20 flipside.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, aren't 22 you talking about "submits discovery"? What 23 does "point to" mean anyway?

24 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Points out
25 to it. The deposition of Joe Jones, page so

1 and so, lines so and so.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

3 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Or the 4 memo from defendant's corporate office dated 5 so and so, Bates numbered this and that.

6 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You can 7 just identify it the same as you do when you
8 make the movant do it in Line 9.

9 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: The hard 10 part of this is "information that could be put 11 into summary judgment evidence form."

12 MR. ORSINGER: Luke, we have a 13 provision for pointing to unfiled discovery
14 right now.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Where is 16 that?

17 MR. HATCHELL: (d).

18 MR. ORSINGER: (b) as in boy?

19 MR. HATCHELL: (d).

20 MR. ORSINGER: (d) as in dog.

21 MR. HATCHELL: That's why I
22 don't understand the distinction between 23 summary judgment evidence and discovery pool.
24 In (d) -- the only place in the whole rule 25 where the words "summary judgment evidence"

1 are used is in (d), which relates to all
2 discovery products.

3 MR. ORSINGER: Well, Mike,
4 would you think that an unauthenticated
5 business record is --

6 MR. HATCHELL: Absolutely.
7 That's what (d) says.

8 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Yeah.

9 MR. ORSINGER: -- summary
10 judgment evidence?

11 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: This has 12 been my problem all morning, and I've gone and 13 read on it, is that I don't understand why, if 14 the expert's report is produced in response to 15 a request or a deposition, it's under 16 subsection (b), isn't it?

17 MR. HATCHELL: You write them a 18 letter in intention, and it is, quote, summary
19 judgment evidence.

20 HON. SARAH DUNCAN: Okay. I
21 don't care. Now I understand.

22 MR. ORSINGER: Well, then
23 summary judgment evidence is broad enough to 24 include the discovery pool.

25 MR. HATCHELL: Read (d).

1 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I read
2 (d), and it's not as clear to me as it is to 3 you, but then that doesn't surprise me.

4 MR. HATCHELL: Well, the answer
5 to your question, Richard, is in (d).

6 MR. ORSINGER: What if there's 7 a hearsay objection?

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I don't 9 know whether we need to do anything -- in 10 light of (d) -- whether we need to do anything 11 about discovery products, but the operative -- 12 the verbs in (d) are better than "points to," 13 I think.

14 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Okay. How 15 about "makes specific reference to"?

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: "Copies of 17 the material, appendices containing the 18 evidence, or a notice containing specific 19 references to the discovery or specific 20 references to other instruments, are filed," 21 so you're either given copies or given notice 22 of copies of where it is. So it may be that 23 all we're talking about is summary judgment 24 evidence in light of the breadth of (d), as 25 Mike understands it anyway, and the thing

1 we're adding is, I guess, material --

2 MR. JACKS: May I try some 3 language out on you?

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Go
5 ahead, restricted to the information, the kind 6 of information we need.

7 MR. JACKS: Well, what I
8 suggest is -- I mean, the dilemma here is that 9 (d) appears to say that if it's discovered
10 information, then it's summary judgment
11 evidence. But I know plenty of trial judges
12 who will say, if I attach documents that I
13 obtain in discovery but with no authenticating
14 affidavit because they're the other side's 15 documents and I can't authenticate them and 16 without going out and taking depositions I 17 can't make them authenticate them, and if 18 there's an objection filed, they say, "Well, 19 Counsel, that's not summary judgment evidence
20 and I'm not going to consider it."

21 And that's why, Mike, I for one would be 22 reluctant to say that (d) takes care of me.

23 So what I propose is to say, change the 24 period at the end of the sentence that ends on 25 Line 13 to a comma and say "or" -- and the

1 verb I use is "produces" and if we want to 2 come up with another one, that's fine, but I
3 don't think it's burdensome to produce it if 4 you've got it by virtue of discovery -- "or 5 produces other information, including 6 information obtained in discovery, which 7 raises a genuine issue of material fact even 8 though not in proper form for summary judgment 9 evidence."

10 That includes discovery information and 11 non-discovery information. I'm also assuming 12 that we will continue to assert the words
13 "summary judgment" before the word "evidence" 14 on Line 13.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Read
16 it to me again, Tommy.

17 MR. JACKS: Okay. Let me
18 read -- all right. Starting at the beginning 19 of Line 13, "respondent raises summary 20 judgment evidence raising a genuine issue of 21 material fact, or produces other information, 22 including information obtained in discovery,
23 which raises a genuine issue of material fact 24 even though not in proper form for summary
25 judgment evidence."

1 Well, the word "including" means
2 including but not limited to, I think. I
3 mean, I think we can assume that without 4 having to say --

5 MR. HAMILTON: Luke, can I try
6 something out?

7 MR. JACKS: Well, the reason I
8 think you need it is because I think otherwise 9 you've got a question of whether (d) gets you 10 there or not, and this makes it explicit that 11 (d) does get you there without having to 12 prove it up in authenticated form.

13 MR. GALLAGHER: Tommy, listen
14 to this and see if this gets us to where we're 15 trying to go.

16 MR. JACKS: Yeah.

17 MR. GALLAGHER: The court shall 18 grant the motion unless the respondent
19 produces summary judgment evidence, then 20 beginning here, or other information which, if 21 in summary judgment evidentiary form, would 22 raise a genuine issue of material fact, or 23 other evidence which, if in summary -- or 24 other information which, if in summary
25 judgment evidentiary form, would raise a

1 genuine issue of material fact.

2 MR. ORSINGER: You don't need
3 your "which" clause. It doesn't add anything, 4 does it?

5 MR. GALLAGHER: Well, they were 6 trying to limit it somewhat to avoid "I know 7 that there's an expert out there somewhere who 8 can controvert or who will raise an issue of 9 fact as to the question of defect."

10 MR. ORSINGER: Maybe you need
11 to say "which can be reduced to summary 12 judgment evidence form" or "could be reduced."

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let me try 14 this. Okay. Right where Tommy started and 15 Mike too, "produces summary judgment
16 evidence," after that, "or discovery product 17 or other information that can be reduced to 18 summary judgment evidence form," and then pick 19 up "raising a genuine issue of material fact."
20 I think that --

21 MR. GOLD: Would you read that 22 one more time?

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. We're 24 going to modify "evidence" with "summary 25 judgment," okay, evidence. So it will be

1 "summary judgment evidence" right there after 2 that word which is now the third word of 13,
3 "or discovery product or other information
4 that can be reduced to summary judgment
5 evidence form." That's it.

6 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Question.

8 Peeples.

9 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: The 10 respondent says, "I'm going to be able to get 11 a witness to testify to that. I've talked to 12 an expert, and I'm going to be able to get 13 him. I haven't done it now."

14 Now, that's information that, if you can 15 get it, you can get it in summary judgment
16 form.

17 MR. GALLAGHER: No, no. Can I
18 try to speak to that?

19 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Yeah.

20 MR. GALLAGHER: There is no way
21 you can put that information in summary
22 judgment form. So what if I write a letter 23 saying, "I'm going to get a witness, Judge, 24 that is going to establish defect or medical 25 causation." There's nothing I can do to

1 refine that or ever get that in admissible
2 form.

3 Now, conversely, if I have a letter from 4 an expert that says there's a product defect 5 or that the injury was caused by the 6 negligence of the treating physician and I
7 offer that at a summary judgment hearing, now, 8 that's evidence that can be reduced to summary
9 judgment form.

10 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: It's got 11 to be specific.

12 MR. GALLAGHER: If I only say
13 I'm going to go find somebody like that, I can 14 never reduce the substance of that statement
15 to admissible form.

16 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: That is 17 specific information.

19 existing information?

20 MR. GOLD: I think that's 21 important, and that's what Judge Brister was 22 bringing up before, and I think there's a real 23 important distinction to make. And I think 24 that Mike is right, is, in response to Judge
25 Brister earlier, if you have a hospital

1 emergency room record that has a statement by 2 a nurse with initials or whatever that says, 3 you know, somebody said this or whatever, that 4 would be information that isn't in admissible
5 form but could be reduced to admissible form 6 through a deposition or something.

7 But I agree with everybody who is saying,
8 you know, what happens if the attorney says,
9 "Oh, I can go out and get it." I think 10 without any specific item showing that 11 something probably exists out there, that 12 doesn't cut it. That doesn't cut it. I agree 13 with that.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, how 15 about this: The present rule on the discovery 16 not on file, which obviously has some 17 limitations, but it speaks about "material."
18 I guess under the present practice, if you 19 don't have deposition testimony and what 20 you're trying to do is either sustain or 21 defeat a motion for summary judgment with 22 testimony, you've got to do it with an 23 affidavit because there's going to be 24 testimony. What's wrong with leaving that as 25 it is?

1 MR. GOLD: Say that again.
2 What rule are you reading?

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, it's 4 under (d). But if you -- there really isn't a 5 place other than in affidavits to augment
6 deposition testimony with other testimony.

7 MR. ORSINGER: Luke, I may not 8 understand your proposal, but I certainly 9 wouldn't want to be limited to choosing 10 between an affidavit or a deposition, because 11 that would force me to get a deposition of 12 everyone that is not under my control, even if 13 I have demonstrable evidence of what their 14 information is.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, that's 16 the material that I think of when it's talking 17 about material, documents or something. In 18 other words, if we say "discovery product or 19 other material that can be reduced to summary
20 judgment form" and not information, "material"
21 then being a narrower category, something 22 probably physically existing as opposed to --

23 MR. ORSINGER: But it would 24 include an unsworn statement in writing or a 25 tape recording or an expert's report or an

1 unauthenticated business record?

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes, I think
3 so.

4 MR. ORSINGER: If it includes 5 all of that, I'm happy with that.

6 MR. HAMILTON: Why don't we 7 just use the word "evidence"? Evidence can be 8 reduced to admissible form.

9 MR. GOLD: I think "evidence"
10 creates a whole panoply of problems. I mean, 11 that's what we've been trying to gravitate 12 away from, is the term "evidence," because of 13 the connotation that it is something that is 14 admissible at trial.

15 I think Richard's suggestion is very 16 efficient. I think that it gets done what we 17 need to get done, is that we have something 18 that can be reduced to admissible form in 19 support of the summary judgment.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The issue
21 here is whether that has to be something that 22 physically exists or something that's just a 23 statement, "I have a witness." If it's just a 24 statement, "I have witness," that guts this 25 whole thing.

1 MR. GOLD: I agree.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It makes (i)
3 basically useless, and that's not going to 4 fly.

5 MR. GOLD: I don't think anyone 6 disagrees with that.

7 MR. ORSINGER: What if a party
8 is willing to swear that a witness who has not 9 been deposed for which there's no written 10 statement told them X, is that material? If 11 the plaintiff says undeposed, no written 12 statement, "Witness Y told me so and so," is 13 that enough to beat a motion?

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It would be 15 if it was in a deposition, I guess.

16 MR. ORSINGER: Or in an 17 affidavit? It would be hearsay, because my 18 client is repeating what someone told them, 19 but it's under oath in an affidavit and 20 presumably hearsay is not a problem at that 21 point.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I don't 23 know. I don't know. I'm not going to -- 24 that's a knotty question. I don't know how to 25 deal with that. I don't know what the answer

1 to that is.

2 MR. ORSINGER: That's a burr
3 that Judge Brister is going to file off.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
5 Or discovery product or some other something 6 that can be reduced to SJE form. Is that 7 something going to be information, material or 8 some other word?

9 MR. GOLD: Data?

10 MR. JACKS: No. "Data" is 11 pretty specialized. I mean, it connotes 12 something that's quantitative.

13 MR. GOLD: Items? I can't 14 think of --

15 MR. JACKS: I think "material"
16 is not a bad stab at it.

17 MR. GOLD: Actually "material"
18 is probably a pretty good word, because 19 testimony and stuff like that isn't going to 20 support it anyway, oral testimony. "Material" 21 gives the connotation of something that is 22 tangible, physical, a document or thing.

23 MR. JACKS: Yeah.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Vote
25 on this: The court should grant the motion --

1 or must grant the motion, I guess.

2 MR. JACKS: Yeah.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The court
4 must grant the motion unless the respondent
5 produces summary judgment evidence or 6 discovery product or other material that can 7 be reduced to summary judgment evidence form
8 raising a genuine issue of material fact.

9 Those in favor show by hands. 13.

10 Those opposed. One.

11 13 to one. Okay. That takes care of 12 that. Now, going to Chip's -- I don't know
13 whether to take Chip's burr first or Judge
14 Brister's burrs or Paul's.

15 MR. GOLD: I'll defer to Chip.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Do we want to 17 except from this sentence, express an 18 exception in this sentence, responses to 19 requests for admissions, a party's own 20 responses to requests for admissions? Is 21 anybody in favor of that?

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Luke, I
23 mean, the vote is that we take summary 24 judgment evidence or information? Is that 25 what we just voted for?

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Material.

2 MR. McMANS: Or discovery
3 product.

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Or
5 discovery product. Okay. Because if we're 6 staying with summary judgment evidence, I
7 don't know why, but it's pretty clear to me 8 that your denial of your own request for 9 admission is not summary judgment evidence but 10 the other side's denial is. And if we're not 11 tinkering with what we've all understood to be 12 summary judgment evidence before, then we 13 don't need to write a bunch of rules to 14 reinvent the wheel now.

15 But to the extent we're adding -- kind of 16 the reason we're doing (i) rather than 17 revamping the rule, like I wanted to do, is if 18 we're adding fewer new things, then I don't 19 feel the need to go into all the burrs, as you 20 call them, because those burrs are not 21 currently a problem. We all know what is and 22 what ain't summary judgment evidence.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, just 24 leave that for definition under 166a(c) and 25 (d), and there is no exception expressed in

1 those right now.

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I was
3 just concerned that when you add the language
4 "discovery products" that hasn't been there
5 before, then that raises the question, "How 6 about my denial to requests for admissions?"

7 MR. GOLD: May I address that?

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, it says
9 that the judgment sought shall be rendered 10 forthwith if other discovery responses are 11 referenced. It doesn't say except anything.
12 That's in (c).

13 MR. ORSINGER: But isn't it
14 inherent that a denial of a requested 15 admission proves nothing, it just refuses to 16 admit something?

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: This is what 18 it says right now, "discovery responses on 19 file can be used," and the law is some can't.
20 Why don't we just leave it alone?

21 MR. ORSINGER: Then we have a 22 problem already.

23 MR. GOLD: The only other
24 clearer way to do it would be just make it 25 clearer in the law that a denial cannot be

1 used as either evidence at trial or summary
2 judgment evidence.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: If we tinker
4 with that, we're going to get back into 5 166a(c), and we've decided to leave the 6 summary judgment rule alone. So we're either 7 going to have different words here or we're 8 going to say summary judgment evidence is what 9 it is in (c) and (d) and go on with it,
10 whatever it is under the current law. Is it 11 okay to leave it alone?

12 MR. ORSINGER: I think so.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Does anybody
14 disagree? Okay. That's going to be left 15 alone.

16 Next is -- Paul, I've forgotten what your 17 other issue was.

18 MR. GOLD: If I had an issue,
19 it's gone. Judge Brister said something a 20 while ago that at some point it would be 21 interesting pursuing and it probably ties in 22 with Chip, which is if somebody who is moving 23 moves to force someone to reduce something to 24 summary judgment evidence when it was clear,
25 obvious, that it could be that similar to a

1 request for admission the party should have to 2 pay the expense of that. But that ties into 3 what Chip has to say, so that's the only thing
4 I would say.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. So now
6 we go to Chip on attorneys' fees. Chip.

7 MR. BABCOCK: Well, what Paul
8 just said is different. You know, I think 9 that the rules probably ought to discourage 10 chicken-shit conduct, but that's not what I
11 view this thing as. This sentence talking
12 about awarding attorneys' fees if the motion
13 did not have an objectively reasonable basis
14 is a deterrent to filing motions for summary
15 judgment of that this type. And we've put a 16 lot of bells and whistles on this rule that 17 are making it more and more unattractive for 18 anybody to even want to mess with trying to 19 file a motion for summary judgment on this 20 basis. I mean, you've got to wait until 21 discovery is over. You may not even get it
22 heard before the trial date. If you do get it 23 heard, it may be right bumping up on trial.
24 There are a lot of reasons why you wouldn't 25 even mess with subpart (i).

1 And an additional one is this attorneys'
2 fees thing. It seems to me that we have 3 provided in the rules in general and now
4 there's even a part of the Civil Practice and 5 Remedies Code that provides a remedy if 6 somebody thinks that a frivolous motion or a 7 motion that deserves being sanctioned is filed 8 by a party to a litigation. This thing is 9 going to create more litigation and I think 10 it's going to discourage some motions being 11 filed.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Well,
13 without this sentence there, (i), that was a 14 piece of the boilerplate that was put on (i) 15 in order to get anything passed. The 16 Committee would not have passed it otherwise.

17 Does anyone want to change their position
18 on that?

19 MR. BABCOCK: Well, there have 20 been a lot of compromises that were struck 21 that have been discarded today.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: In light of a
23 compromise, does anyone want to change their 24 position on this?

25 Okay. I hesitate to do this, but it

1 seems to me to be appropriate. In light of 2 the fact that we're opening up for material
3 that can be reduced to summary judgment
4 evidence form, should the last sentence
5 include the possibility of sanctions against a 6 respondent? Does anyone have any interest in 7 talking about that? No one does.

8 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: For doing
9 what?

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: If the 11 response did not have an objectively
12 reasonable basis at the time it was filed.

13 MR. ORSINGER: Well, your 14 response is not an allegation. Your response 15 is pointing out specific existing stuff.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Does
17 anyone have any interest in doing that? No
18 one does, so we don't need to talk about it.

19 Okay. Those in favor -- well, we'll 20 figure out what it to call it in a minute.
21 Those in favor of (i) as now modified show by 22 hands. 13.

23 Those opposed. One.

24 Okay. We have a vote of 13 to one.

25 Do you like -- those in favor -- there

1 are two titles here, Motion Asserting
2 Respondent's Liability to Raise Fact Issue
3 after Discovery Period; No-Evidence Motion
4 after Discovery Period. These in favor of the 5 first show by hands.

6 MR. YELENOSKY: What was that?

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Look at the 8 top in bold, the alternative titles. Those in 9 favor of the first show by hands.

10 Those in favor of the second show by 11 hands.

12 Okay. There were no votes for the 13 first. The second carries.

14 MR. YELENOSKY: Could you read
15 the final language we came up with again?

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: There were 17 votes for the second.

18 Now, the comment, I guess, needs a little 19 bit of modification, but other than to modify 20 it to take care of the changes that we made, 21 does anyone have any other requests or 22 comments about the comment?

23 Okay. There are none. And Judge
24 Peeples, if you can just make that fit the 25 changes we've made, then that's unopposed as 1 well.

2 MR. HAMILTON: Luke, I'm 3 wondering if that word "period" in the title
4 ought to be taken out, because there's two 5 kinds of discovery, not just a discovery 6 period.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The way this 8 is -- "period" is used in both places, any 9 applicable discovery period, or after a period 10 set by the court. So it's either going to 11 be --

12 MR. HAMILTON: So it can be any 13 period then?

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Either way
15 it's going to be a period. Does that answer 16 your question? Is that helpful?

17 MR. HAMILTON: Yes.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
19 We have a summary judgment rule, and that will 20 not come back to the Committee unless somebody 21 disagrees with that, and we will get the final 22 product from Judge Peeples incorporating these 23 changes and send it to the Supreme Court. Is 24 there any objection?

25 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Could I

1 have the sentence at Lines 12 and 13 read
2 verbatim one more time, please?

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: This is it:
4 Beginning just to the left -- or to the right 5 of the middle of Line 12 with the words at the 6 first of the sentence, "The court must," 7 picking up the language, "grant the motion 8 unless the respondent produces," insert the 9 words "summary judgment," and then leave your 10 word "evidence," followed by this insertion,
11 "or discovery product or other material" --

12 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Materials?

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Other
14 material. One material.

15 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Okay.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I mean, it's 17 singular in the other rules. That's what I'm 18 referring to.

19 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Okay.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: -- "that can
21 be reduced to summary judgment evidence form."

22 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Excuse me,
23 Luke, can you repeat that, please?

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: In a minute.
25 The other change will be to change "paragraph"

1 to "subdivision," change "shall" to "must"
2 where appropriate. Otherwise, it's as 3 written.

4 Okay. Judge Peeples, you have that,
5 don't you?

6 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: I think
7 so.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Now
9 I'll read the sentence. "The court must grant 10 the motion unless the respondent produces 11 summary judgment evidence or other" -- I'll 12 start over.

13 "The court must grant the motion unless 14 the respondent produces summary judgment
15 evidence or discovery product or other
16 material that can be reduced to summary
17 judgment evidence form raising a genuine issue 18 of material fact."

19 The sentence runs from beginning to end 20 with no punctuation except for a period at the 21 end.

22 Okay. Now let's go to the --

23 MR. ORSINGER: Well, before we 24 leave it, can we request that the final 25 version be distributed to the Committee at the

1 same time that it's forwarded to the Supreme 2 Court?

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Absolutely,
4 sure. Holly will make a note to do that.
5 When we send it to the Court, we'll send you a
6 copy of the transmittal. And if you find a 7 flaw, let us know and I'll correct it and 8 resubmit it.

9 Okay. 18a. We'll go to maybe another
10 noncontroversial subject. We have two 11 versions. We have the subcommittee version 12 and Judge Brister's version. I guess in 13 deference to the subcommittee chair, who wants 14 to report on the subcommittee's version? Is 15 that your responsibility, Richard?

16 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah, it is my 17 responsibility. But the subcommittee's
18 version caught so much flak that Judge Brister 19 came up with the alternative, and I think that 20 our focus was to look at his alternative 21 rather than looking at the subcommittee's 22 version.

23 Now, you asked me to do a red-line of 24 Judge Brister's version, but when I sat down 25 to try to do that, it was so radically

1 different from 18a or 18b that it would be 2 pointless or even impossible to do a
3 red-line. So Luke, I feel like we need to 4 just look at his version and compare them as 5 best we can, because it's a consolidation of 6 two long rules, a mixture or consolidation, so 7 I couldn't do a red-line.

8 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Where is 9 your version?

10 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I don't 11 know that I made more than two copies of it.

12 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Okay.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What was the 14 controversy over the subcommittee's version?

15 MR. ORSINGER: Well, Lee 16 drafted that, and --

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Most of 18 the things are addressed in my letter to you 19 or some of them. Some of them are listed in 20 that letter to you that I have tried to 21 address.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let's see if 23 I have that. "Enclosed please find my 24 redraft," and then sort of where you go
25 paragraph by paragraph, is that it, Judge?

1 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Right.
2 As you recall, Lee had the subcommittee
3 version that had lots of footnotes, and I
4 tried to address those footnotes as well as a 5 couple of other things in my letter.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I think
7 there are some material omissions, Judge
8 Brister, in your draft.

10 great.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: For example,
12 it doesn't say what happens when there is an 13 emergency that has to be addressed by a court 14 whenever the trial judge can't serve.

15 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Sure it 16 does.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Where?

18 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Interim
19 proceedings, (d)(3).

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: (d)(3)?

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I'm 22 sorry, it's -- well, hang on a second, you may 23 be right.

24 MR. ORSINGER: I'm not sure I
25 understand the situation you're describing.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Years ago
2 when we did this there were a lot of 3 concerns. One of the concerns was, and it was 4 articulated in terms of family law practice
5 and then in terms of TROs and that sort of 6 thing, where there is no other judge, except 7 the judge who has been challenged, to do
8 something that has to be done.

9 MR. ORSINGER: Okay.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And this
11 says, the old rule says that if the judge 12 states his reasons in his order, he can do 13 that.

14 MR. ORSINGER: I see.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And it also 16 says that the regional judge can do that.
17 Either one of those judges can act in 18 emergency circumstances to take care of a 19 party who is in need.

20 MR. ORSINGER: And that's 21 essential.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I think it is
23 essential.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I
25 agree. I don't know what I did with it.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And that's
2 what --

3 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Well,
4 there's also a statute that says you can go 5 across the county line and find a neighboring 6 judge.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Here
9 you go, it's (d)(4), under "Hearing." It says 10 the regional judge assigns somebody, sends 11 notice, and may make such other orders 12 including interim or ancillary relief as 13 justice may require.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

15 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: And my 16 thought on that was, well, that's just carried 17 over from the current rule.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But it
19 doesn't say that the challenged judge can act 20 in an emergency.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And state the 23 reason in his order.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: And
25 that's one of the things we need to discuss.

1 It was my thought that if the judge --
2 especially if the judge is disqualified, you
3 know, say, "Oh, well, you go ahead and do it
4 anyway because you really need to," as opposed 5 just to saying, you know, the regional judge, 6 this is what they're paid -- how much, David?
7 30 percent extra?

8 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: I don't 9 know.

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: To be 11 available for that stuff.

12 MR. ORSINGER: Whatever it is, 13 it's not enough.

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: But 15 that's one of the things we do need to 16 discuss.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well,
18 notwithstanding this rule, if that judge acts, 19 he has already ordered it. What about a 20 recused judge?

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well, 22 can we --

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It
25 seems to me we need to address this and go

1 through this.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

3 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: As well
4 as lots of other questions. If I could make 5 just a brief introduction.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let's do
7 that.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It's
9 best to look at the one that's November 7th, 10 my letter to Luke. And for comparison, the 11 second and third pages from the back have the 12 existing rule on the left and the proposed 13 redraft on the right.

14 Two things primarily were focused on.
15 One was the problem from the attorney's 16 perspective of what to do when it comes up at 17 the last minute, the perceived problem with 18 the 10-day cutoff. You have to recuse more 19 than 10 days before the hearing.

20 Number two is, I have redrafted a bunch
21 of stuff, and I think part of it was to make 22 it shorter or simpler. If I could just say,
23 this is a big-city judge thing. It's a bit 24 difficult for me to explain to you why this 25 needs to be done if you're not a big-city

1 judge because you probably don't see it that 2 much. We see this a lot. We see it not from 3 people like the people in this room. We see 4 it from the people -- they tend to be filed by 5 the scofflaws and the problem people who are 6 not on this Committee, and it's a big 7 problem.

8 If I could give you just a brief example 9 without naming names, we have a new 10 administrative presiding judge, not in Harris 11 County, and the first few months when he took 12 over, these things -- the hearings were set 13 months off. This was no big deal until on one 14 of the cases where the recusal came up the 15 second time similar to the grounds of the 16 first time when it was denied along with a
17 motion to recuse the new judge that -- recuse 18 the judge that we lost on before as well as 19 the new judge who would be assigned to hear it 20 as well as the presiding judge from assigning 21 anybody to do it. Well, by that point the 22 administrative judge is getting the picture
23 that this is a game in many circumstances, it 24 and has to be treated differently in the city
25 than it is in the country.

1 So with that background, probably it
2 would be best to go through the letter because 3 that follows the order.

4 One of the problems with the order is -- 5 you know, it's two different rules now that's 6 recusal, not one. It's 18a and 18b, and 7 nobody ever remembers which one is which.
8 But they're backwards, because the grounds for 9 disqualification is the second rule and how to 10 do it is the first rule, so all the 11 definitions are after the procedures on how to 12 do it. And it seems to me that ought to be 13 the other way, so that's the way I've listed 14 them on that comparison, 18b first and 18a
15 second.

16 The first proposal was to replace or just 17 to switch the term "economic interest" for 18 "financial interest." That's because the 19 definitions in the rule are taken almost word
20 for word from the Code of Judicial Conduct,
21 except the Code of Judicial Conduct is -- uses 22 the term "economic interest." And that's just 23 to make it parallel with -- because all of 24 these things are very parallel.

25 Obviously, in circumstances -- this is

1 closely tied with the Code of Judicial Conduct 2 because if I'm not supposed to be acting for 3 ethical reasons then I ought to be recused for 4 procedural reasons and vice versa, so the two 5 ought to at least use the same term,
6 especially if they're defining it in the same 7 way.

8 Do you want me to go through all of these 9 or do you want to just see if there's 10 discussion on each one or what?

11 MR. McMAINS: Let me ask you, 12 doesn't the current rule use "financial 13 interest"?

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yes.

15 MR. McMAINS: And that's 16 because the current rule -- because that is in 17 the Constitution. Isn't that the reason?

18 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: The 19 Constitution is on the last page of that 20 letter, and it does not say "financial" or 21 "economic." It just says "interest."

22 MR. McMAINS: Wasn't there a
23 Supreme Court case that said it meant
24 financial interest?

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Said what,

1 Rusty?

2 MR. McMAINS: I mean, I thought
3 the reason that that term was used was because 4 there was a Supreme Court case saying that 5 means a financial interest.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's right.

7 MR. McMAINS: I'm not saying
8 that it's any different, I'm just saying that 9 if you're wondering why we used a term that 10 may be different than the judicial canons, my 11 recollection when we first did this rule is we 12 tracked the Supreme Court case that says this 13 is what the Constitution means.

15 this is not a tricky deal. There's no hidden 16 agenda. If you want them both to be economic 17 interest or if you want them both to be 18 financial interest, it doesn't matter to me.
19 It just seems like if they're identical they 20 ought to be identical.

21 MR. McMAINS: My concern, I
22 guess, would be, and I don't know the answer 23 to this, but to me, an economic interest is 24 perhaps a broader interest than a financial 25 interest in my just gut perception. I tend to

1 think of a financial interest as someone who 2 has a financial interest in the outcome of a 3 particular case, whereas a person may have an 4 economic interest if it affects a general
5 area.

6 Let's say it's an oil and gas case and 7 the person has oil and gas royalties that have 8 nothing to do with this particular case. You 9 can have an economic interest in the outcome
10 of a particular suit, but I'm not sure that 11 you would necessarily have a financial 12 interest in my perception of that term.

13 And I don't know if that's -- I don't 14 know that "financial" is really such a word of 15 limitation as I'm suggesting, but I seem to 16 think that "economic" -- I mean, it just 17 strikes me that "economic interest" is a 18 slightly broader notion or would appear to 19 broaden the notion.

20 MS. GARDNER: Luke, this is 21 Anne Gardner. May I speak?

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes. Anne
23 Gardner.

24 MS. GARDNER: I just think from 25 the average practicing lawyer's point of view

1 that if they see that a change in terminology
2 has been made, judges and lawyers who are not 3 privy to this Committee's thinking will 4 automatically assume that there is a reason
5 for the change and will make a distinction,
6 even if it's not there.

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
8 if there is a distinction, you've got a 9 problem, because it's unethical, but I can 10 still rule on the case? I mean, if you can't 11 rule -- the rules about what you can and can't 12 do power-wise ought to be the same as the 13 rules for what you can and can't do 14 ethical-wise.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I don't think
16 there is an ethical issue on this anymore, 17 Judge. I think 3(c) of the Code of Judicial 18 Conduct was repealed, and that's why we have 19 (b) out of order with (a), because (b) was 20 created after (a) when 3(c) was still in 21 place, and the Court wanted to move 3(c), 22 wanted to delete 3(c) and take it out of the 23 ethical issues and just make it a recusal
24 question.

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,

1 the voluminous definitions that are currently 2 in 18b are word for word from the Code of 3 Judicial Conduct right now.

4 The definition of "fiduciary" -- I mean,
5 (d) defines financial interest using the same 6 terms that the code does to define economic 7 interest. I'm puzzled how anybody would find 8 a distinction when the definitions are 9 identical.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Let me
11 see that. Is there a Code of Judicial Conduct 12 rule on this anymore? I don't think there 13 is. It used to be 3(c). I don't know whether 14 that really matters, but I don't think it's an 15 ethical violation for a judge to serve when he 16 should be recused anymore, at least not under 17 the CJC.

18 And then getting to Rusty's point, this 19 Cameron vs. Greenhill says it is set in 20 principle, this is a constitutional case, that 21 the interest which disqualifies a judge is 22 that interest, however small, which rests upon 23 a direct pecuniary or personal interest.
24 That's a Supreme Court case.

25 MR. McMains: Actually, Luke, as

1 I look a little closer, is this 18b? Isn't 2 this, Judge, our current rule? Isn't that 3 right?

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes.

5 MR. McMAINS: We actually
6 didn't qualify interest at all when we dealt 7 with the disqualification issue initially.
8 And 18b(1), those are straight out of the 9 Constitution. We don't attempt to define it.
10 That's where we had the debate. We had a 11 debate as to whether to define the interest as 12 pecuniary or personal or economic or whatever, 13 and we didn't define it there because the 14 language in the Constitution was simply 15 "interest."

16 And I think that we didn't put a
17 limitation on it there, although we did -- 18 although I guess you did over here.

19 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I have 20 suggested doing that. That's old No. 2.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It's in 18b
22 now.

23 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: In the 24 recusal, but not in the disqualification.

25 MR. McMAINS: It's not in the

1 disqualification.

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: This is
3 another problem with 18b and 18a. Nobody can 4 find anything in them. It's like current 5 Rule 215; it's been added on to so many times
6 it's hard to follow.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:
9 "Financial interest" appears in 18b(2)(e).

10 MR. McMANS: Right. But 11 that's under recusal, and not disqualification

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Right.

13 MR. ORSINGER: Is it agreed 14 that financial interest is a constitutional 15 ground for disqualification?

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Now,
17 "interest" is.

18 MR. McMANS: Yes. But it is 19 also probably more than that, because a 20 personal interest is also a ground for 21 disqualification.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It is.

23 MR. ORSINGER: Because the 24 Constitution just says "interest" and doesn't 25 say economic, financial --

1 MR. McMAINS: Because it says
2 "interest," and because the Supreme Court
3 case he just talked about said pecuniary or 4 personal. And that's the reason why we didn't 5 limit it to financial or economic the first 6 time we wrote it.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's 8 correct.

9 MR. ORSINGER: So personal 10 might be if the judge's child was a party and 11 even though he may not be liable --

12 MR. McMAINS: Or his great-13 great-great-grandchild.

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Look at 15 the next section. Drop ahead to No. 3 on the 16 next section where I proposed changing the 17 disqualifications to be in line with the case 18 if financial. Cameron vs. Greenhill is where 19 the Court approved the fee added to the State 20 Bar fee to build the building we're sitting 21 in. And a lawyer who didn't want to pay the 22 extra fee moved to recuse the court because 23 they approved the fee and he thought it denied 24 his rights, et cetera, and moved to recuse
25 them because they had an interest, not a

1 financial one; they didn't gain anything
2 directly financially. And the court said no, 3 that's not the interest we're talking about.

4 In Belo vs. SMU, the judge was a member
5 of the Pony Club or -- what is it, Bill?

6 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: The 7 Mustang Club.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Okay.
9 And because he was an SMU booster, it was 10 alleged, well, he can't be fair on the case
11 against SMU because you're a booster and it 12 has to do with athletic improprieties, and the 13 Court said no, there's no pecuniary interest.
14 Just being interested in seeing the Ponies do 15 good is not the interest that the Constitution 16 is talking about.

17 So I agree with Rusty, the term in the 18 Constitution is "interest," but it has in all 19 cases been defined by the Court to be 20 financial or economic interest, so whichever 21 one you want to call it.

22 MR. McMANS: Well, except that 23 the actual language in Greenhill is pecuniary 24 or personal.

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Direct.

1 MR. McMains: I understand.

2 MR. ORSINGER: The language
3 where?

4 MR. McMains: I mean, I don't 5 know what a direct personal interest is,
6 but --

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Cameron vs.
8 Greenhill.

9 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I think
10 they say that because they don't want to get 11 in the taxpayer problems. In the taxpayer
12 cases you do have an infinitesimal pecuniary 13 interest, but they've always held that the 14 judge can rule on the taxpayer cases anyway 15 because it's too remote.

16 MR. McMains: Too remote,
17 yeah. But that's the direct motivation,
18 that's not the personal or pecuniary.

19 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's
20 the direct question, yes.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Richard.

22 MR. ORSINGER: Can I ask for an 23 example of what a personal interest would be 24 that would disqualify that is not 25 consanguinity or affinity?

1 MR. McMAINS: Well, it could be
2 a stepson or a stepdaughter.

3 MR. JACKS: A girlfriend.

4 MR. McMAINS: Or whatever. I
5 mean, somebody that's not related that's an 6 adult that's not living in the home, you
7 know. It could be from a divorce. I mean, 8 you wouldn't be in the same degree of 9 consanguinity or affinity.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let me say
11 this: Say it's a direct pecuniary, if you use 12 these words, direct pecuniary or personal.
13 Okay? The judge is construing a mineral deed
14 or a royalty deed which is identical to a 15 mineral or royalty deed which is in the 16 judge's chain of title for his financial 17 interest. And if he rules one way, his chain 18 is good. If he rules the other way, his chain 19 is bad.

20 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:
21 Interestingly, the --

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It's not his 23 direct interest in this case.

24 MR. ORSINGER: Would that be 25 personal?

HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:

Interestingly, the Court has held no problem. There was a condemnation case where the judge was allowed to preside over the condemnation when he had the neighboring property with the same highway or whatever it was going through and he was allowed to preside over the neighbor's condemnation case as to the value of the land condemned because it had no direct financial or pecuniary, et cetera, interest. Well, it seems to me, remember, we're just talking about constitutional disqualification. There's still recusal for a list, a long list of reasons that may or may not apply.

CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. To bring this into focus, what we're talking about is, do we modify the word "financial"? Do we want modify the word "financial" in the rule given that it's not modified in the Constitution? That's the issue. Anne Gardner.

MS. GARDNER: Well, if the word "financial" is not in the Constitution --

CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes, it is.

1 It's in Article 5, Section 11, I think.

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: No,
3 it's not.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Oh, it just 5 says "interest."

6 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: In the 7 first line, the judge is not interested in the 8 case.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Interest. If 10 I said "financial," I misread this.

11 MR. ORSINGER: If I understand 12 this, what Judge Brister has done is he has 13 said the Constitution says only "interest," 14 but the cases seem to limit it to economic 15 interest, and therefore, he has taken the 16 license of putting "economic" on there because 17 the Supreme Court appears to have done that.

18 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's 19 correct. I am trying to conform it to 20 existing law, not change it.

21 MR. ORSINGER: So in my view
22 the debate here is whether this ought to be in 23 the language of the Constitution or in the 24 language of the Constitution as it appears to 25 have been interpreted by the Supreme Court.

1 To me, that's the choice.

2 MR. McMAINS: The problem is,
3 whatever the rule says, the court doesn't 4 have -- theoretically doesn't have the power
5 to change the Constitution.

6 MR. ORSINGER: That's right.

7 MR. McMAINS: So if somebody
8 wants to take the position that a judge is 9 disqualified on a constitutional basis --

10 MR. ORSINGER: -- this rule is 11 irrelevant.

12 MR. McMAINS: -- based on an 13 interest and he moves for an interest that is 14 not economic, then he would still have the 15 capacity to complain that "You can't hear my 16 case. You have no power to rule in my case
17 under the Constitution." And what the rules
18 say doesn't make any difference once the court 19 is faced with that issue.

20 MR. ORSINGER: That's correct.
21 This paragraph (a) is only in here for 22 informational purposes. It doesn't really 23 affect the legal issues. We could add 24 15 paragraphs and it wouldn't affect the legal 25 issues.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So the
2 question is, do we put any modifiers in front
3 of "interest" or do we just say "interest"?

4 MR. ORSINGER: That's what I
5 think.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What?

7 MR. ORSINGER: That's the
8 question.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's the 10 question. Okay. Those in favor of --

11 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It's 12 like with 215, the argument for putting 13 Transamerican into Rule 215 is because it's 14 the law, and if you just read the rule, you're 15 getting the wrong idea of what the law is.
16 The argument for putting "financial" in here 17 is not to take anything away that the 18 Constitution gives you but to inform you of 19 what the law is.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. That's 21 the argument. Let me just see -- okay. In 22 (a)(2) the fifth word, economic, first of all, 23 regardless of the debate whether it's 24 financial or economic, let's vote whether 25 there should be any modifyier.

1 Should there be any modifier ahead of 2 the word "interest" under (a)(2)? Those who 3 think there should be show by hands. Three.

4 Those who are opposed show by hands.
5 Seven. Seven to three, no modifier.

6 MR. ORSINGER: Luke, are (1)
7 and (3) true to the Constitution as written,
8 or do they have embellishments?

10 fixing to get to that.

11 MR. ORSINGER: Okay.

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I'm
13 assuming we're just skipping whether to use
14 financial interest or economic interest?

15 MR. ORSINGER: Right.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Okay.
18 The next section then, as it says on 19 paragraph (a), the annotation, the current 20 rule extends the disqualification to former 21 law partners. The Constitution does not cover 22 people you practice with, but the current rule 23 does. And my proposal retains the current 24 rule's extention.

25 Similarly, the second one, the current

1 rule extends to any matter that the lawyer
2 handles, so for instance, if you handled the 3 title deed search, you can't handle the case
4 about whether the title is good. The 5 Constitution only says case, not matter, but 6 obviously it seems to make sense. It ought 7 to -- again, all of these are what the law 8 already is, but just the first two keep the 9 rule as the law already is, although they 10 extend it beyond the Constitution.

11 MR. ORSINGER: "Already is" by 12 virtue of a Supreme Court opinion?

13 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Already 14 is in the rule that's been around.

15 MR. ORSINGER: Okay. Well, 16 that's different.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Any
18 discussion on that?

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Richard.

20 MR. ORSINGER: I think that it
21 is misleading for us to purport to inform the 22 people what's in the Constitution and then to 23 misinform them.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It is 25 not unconstitutional to add grounds that they

1 be disqualified.

2 MR. ORSINGER: I don't consider 3 that a disqualification, because 4 disqualification connotes voidness, and 5 everything you're talking about connotes
6 something that's not void, it's something 7 that's waivable, it's something that can be,
8 if you don't preserve it on appeal, it's 9 lost. There's a distinction in my view, and 10 we shouldn't mislead people.

11 I'm not opposing the idea that we should 12 have "matter" instead of "case." I just think 13 "matter" ought to be under recusal and not 14 disqualification.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Now, there's 16 the debate, and it's not -- it's a fairly deep 17 issue, because that's exactly what Richard 18 said. If a judge is constitutionally 19 disqualified, he doesn't have the power to 20 act. But he's only constitutionally 21 disqualified if he's acting contrary to what 22 the Constitution says, and he's not 23 constitutionally disqualified otherwise.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: But
25 what says the Supreme Court can't make rules

1 of procedure that make you disqualified in 2 additional circumstances?

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, they 4 can, but the consequence of that --

5 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: -- is 6 severe.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: -- shouldn't 8 be that the judge does not have the 9 constitutional power to sit, because the judge 10 does have the constitutional power to sit.
11 It's just somebody is saying, "I don't care if 12 you've got the constitutional power to sit.
13 You're disqualified anyway."

14 And the voidness consequence of 15 disqualification emanates from the lack of 16 constitutional power, not because the Supreme 17 Court says you shouldn't, but because the 18 Constitution says you can't, or it's not 19 because the Supreme Court says you can't, it's 20 because the Constitution says you can't.
21 That's the problem.

22 And this was not done right. This 23 Committee did not do 18b, but it was not done
24 right. We've got the chance to do it right
25 now, whatever the right way is. At least I

1 don't think it was done right for the reasons 2 that there are constitutional issues, and then 3 there are other issues. I don't know if 4 anyone disagrees with that, but speak up.
5 Anne Gardner.

6 MS. GARDNER: Well, I agree
7 with you. I think we should change it and do
8 it right, just reiterate what the Constitution 9 says and go on.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And that's
11 disqualification or what? Judge Brister.

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: But
13 you're going to fly in the teeth of a lot of 14 problems if you cut back. Remember, the law 15 is currently, the rule has been currently for 16 10 years or whenever this was done, if you 17 were in the office when the case was in the 18 office, you're disqualified. Why? Because 19 the law, not just of recusal but of 20 attorney-client privilege, assumes that you 21 heard privileged information while you were in 22 there. Now, do you want to reverse all of 23 those if we make that -- you know, this has 24 lots of other effects that have been picked 25 up, other counsel disqualification, privilege

1 questions. And if it's fine that I was in the 2 office, so I leave -- and everybody practices
3 this way.

4 I mean, every judge, when they leave the 5 big law firm in Houston and go on the bench,
6 they don't take that law firm's cases for a 7 while. I mean, that's always been the 8 practice. If you change this back to you had 9 to handle it personally, then you leave the 10 bench, you go to the court, and you start
11 trying that firm's cases. And you can say, 12 well, you know, you can get recused, by why 13 cut back on that?

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.
15 Anything else on this? Richard Orsinger.

16 MR. ORSINGER: Luke, to me what 17 Richard Brister is talking about is focusing 18 on the remedy and what you're talking about is 19 focusing on the law that causes the 20 disqualification. And to me there is a 21 distinction. And what is happening is that 22 the grounds for disqualification and the 23 remedy are being fused into one debate when 24 really there are two different things.

25 It is possible to have a

1 nonconstitutional disability in those 2 instances where the rule has expanded beyond
3 the Constitution but not have it subject to 4 all of the waiver of procedures of recusal, so 5 that we actually have three categories; one
6 that is constitutional disqualification; one
7 that's rule based; and then one that's recusal
8 together with all of its procedural waivers
9 and everything.

10 But I truly think that we can't -- I
11 mean, I think it's misleading to call it 12 "disqualification" when everyone agrees that 13 that connotes unconstitutionality and voidness 14 if it doesn't.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Judge
16 Brister's paragraph (a) is something very few 17 people, I think, realize. This is in his 18 letter to me. The three exceptions that are 19 in the current rule, applying to law partners 20 and "matter" not just the "case," most of the 21 people --

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Now,
23 again, the matter exception, before this rule
24 was written, the Supreme Court said the title 25 deed case, you're disqualified.

1 I don't want to feel put upon, but I feel 2 like when I propose to change something, I get 3 voted down, and when I propose to keep 4 something the same, I get voted down. Just 5 because I'm for this, this is not -- this is 6 exactly what we've been for 50 years. Why is 7 everybody -- you know, if somebody else wants 8 to present this, I'm really not trying to get 9 anything over on you. This is what the law 10 has always been.

11 MR. GOLD: Now you know how I
12 feel. Ask Richard to do it.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Judge, we 14 have the same problem with your draft and the 15 existing rule both, or those of us that have 16 any problems do, and it's not this draft or 17 your work in any way that we're criticizing.

18 Anyway, Tommy Jacks.

19 MR. JACKS: Well, there comes a
20 time when those of us who grew up in McLennan
21 County have to stick together, and I'm going 22 to come to Judge Brister's aid here.

23 It seems to me that we really are letting 24 theory -- and I don't deny that the theory is 25 interesting and maybe even important, but I'm

1 not bothered, as Richard says, by confusing, 2 if that's what we're doing, the origin of the 3 offense, be it constitutional or rule based on 4 the one hand and the remedy on the other.

5 The fact is that there should be, in my 6 opinion at least, as someone who has been in 7 this position, and Luke Soules was there with 8 me, of having a judge whose former law partner 9 is the guy I'm suing, and after having been 10 fornicated upon in the rear end time after 11 time after time and finally getting him
12 disqualified under this rule and freely admit 13 to a bias, it belongs under disqualification 14 in my opinion.

15 I think -- let's look -- I mean, step 16 back and look at how it looks to the 17 litigants, the people who come into our 18 courts, if a judge's former law partner is a 19 party and he's able, before you can get him 20 recused, to make all sorts of rulings of an 21 outrageous nature that are unfair, clearly 22 slanted the way of his former law partner.
23 That's ain't right, no matter how you slice it
24 or dice it. It should be disqualification.
25 It's been in the rules that way a long time.

1 I don't see any overriding need to change it.

2 MR. ORSINGER: Tommy, would one
3 of these expanded grounds make all the 4 previous work void? Like in your case, you
5 had that disqualification, you just didn't 6 invoke it, and that meant that everything that 7 judge did was void?

8 MR. JACKS: No. In that case
9 it -- yeah. In that case, the eventual result 10 was that the judge who heard the motion, our 11 motion for disqualification or recusal, held 12 that, A, he should have recused himself; and 13 B, he was disqualified as a matter of law; and 14 that C, the consequence of that was that his 15 orders in the case to that date were indeed 16 void.

17 MR. ORSINGER: Okay.

18 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: But you
19 raised it? You didn't wait until later?

20 MR. ORSINGER: No, he did wait
21 until later. He waited until after he had 22 been ruled against and then he disqualified
23 him.

24 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Really?

25 MR. ORSINGER: That's what you

1 just said.

2 MR. JACKS: Yeah. We --

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I think we 4 weren't able to get the evidence for some time 5 that showed that the judge had represented the 6 party and had tried lawsuits for the party --

7 MR. JACKS: Yeah. We had a
8 particularly difficult --

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: -- and 10 practiced law with the executor. This was an 11 estate. The party is the executor. The 12 executor is the judge's former law partner.
13 The judge, while he was a law partner,
14 represented the executor in litigation
15 involving this estate and in litigation
16 involving the subject matter, the same
17 property that was at issue in this estate, 18 some rotten refineries.

19 MR. JACKS: And in prior 20 litigation against the estate he had recused 21 himself voluntarily.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And in 23 another case he had recused himself
24 voluntarily.

25 MR. JACKS: And we tried to get

1 him to, and he refused. Meanwhile, he had 2 made some orders, and by the time we could get 3 the hearing on disqualification, we had 4 practically been ruled all the way out of 5 court.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah.

7 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: I'd like 8 to know who did that.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I'll 10 tell you. I'm not going to tell you on the 11 record here because I don't think we ought to 12 make it part of the record, but we don't mind
13 telling you what judge did it. He did a 14 rotten thing.

15 Okay. Except for the addition of the 16 word "economic," Judge Brister, your 17 recitation of the grounds for disqualification
18 are exactly like the ones in the present rule, 19 is that correct?

20 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yes.
21 Though, for instance, you can compare it with 22 the first. One you can say, "or a lawyer with 23 whom they previously practiced law served
24 during such association as a lawyer concerning 25 the matter," by saying, "practiced law with

1 someone while they acted as counsel in the 2 matter," less words. Other than that, there's 3 no change.

4 MR. ORSINGER: I'm going to 5 withdraw my opposition to expanding beyond the 6 Constitution. If everyone is comfortable with 7 court declared voidance, then I'm comfortable 8 with it.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. So
10 take out "economic" and 18a(a) -- everybody is 11 in agreement with it? Nobody is now opposed 12 so that passes -- two opposed. Then let's 13 take a vote.

14 Those in favor show by hands. 11 for.

15 Those against. Two.

16 MR. McMains: Luke, I was 17 asking a question, if you don't mind.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I'm sorry, I 19 was counting you as against. You had your 20 hand up. I apologize.

21 MR. McMains: Are you trying to 22 get through the entire rule on 23 disqualification?

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I mean, 25 frankly --

1 MR. McMAINS: Was that vote
2 intended to get us through the entire rule?

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What? Get us
4 through the whole rule?

5 MR. McMAINS: Was that vote
6 intended --

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:
8 Goodness, no. I've got pages and pages of 9 stuff.

10 MR. ORSINGER: No, just (a).

11 MR. McMAINS: So just 12 disqualification?

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes. That 14 was just 18a(a).

15 MR. McMAINS: Because the 16 reason I ask, our current 18b does track the 17 Constitution in that the judge has to know he 18 has an interest. His proposed rule doesn't 19 require that the judge know that he has an 20 interest, only that he has an interest.

21 Now, that's a fairly significant 22 broadening of the disqualification, because 23 there are many people that might own a stock 24 portfolio that might conceivably be a direct 25 interest in something. But he has to know it

1 in order to be disqualified. And that's not 2 to say that's not mandatory grounds for 3 recusal if it's brought up, but again, to kind 4 of wait until long after the fact and having 5 not complied with any of these procedures 6 based on any lack of knowledge, that's --

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But that's 8 another problem that's in conflict with the 9 Constitution. The Constitution says "has an 10 interest." He doesn't have to know it.

11 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You
12 don't have to know it in the Constitution.

13 MR. McMAINS: I thought the 14 Constitution said "knows."

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No, it does 16 not. It does not say "knows." It does not.
17 "No judges shall sit in a case wherein he may 18 be interested." And that's the end of it.

19 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: And as 20 I'll get down to it, I am -- as we get down to 21 it, because it's much more prominent on what 22 the judge knows in recusal, and I'm very 23 uncomfortable with letting the judge off the 24 hook as long as the judge claims they didn't 25 remember it.

1 I mean, number one, that means you've got 2 to put the judge, who may end up being your 3 trial judge, on the stand and cross-examining 4 him. That's a problem in itself. It ought to 5 be what are the facts, not what did the judge 6 know and when did the judge know it. That's 7 going to be an inherent problem with the 8 "know" problem.

9 And number two, you know, well, that 10 ought to be handled by the cure suggestion
11 which I'll do later, but the Constitution does 12 not require that it be known. And it sure 13 doesn't look any less unsavory to the parties 14 that the judge is going to get rich off of 15 this when the judge says, "I didn't know about 16 it."

17 MR. ORSINGER: I don't think 18 that's a problem.

19 MR. McMains: But I don't know
20 that we have the power to do that. I mean, I 21 guess that is the question. I mean, we don't 22 have the power probably to change the 23 Constitution theoretically.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: We don't have 25 the power to change anything.

1 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah. We can't 2 limit it to knowing. By using "knowing" we're 3 trying to limit the Constitution.

4 MR. McMAINS: Huh?

5 MR. ORSINGER: By using 6 "knowing," we're limiting the Constitution.

7 MR. McMAINS: No, I
8 understand. That's why I said I don't think 9 we have the power to do that.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Can we 11 get past that?

12 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Is there
14 anything else on that? Let's get past that 15 unless there's anything else on it. Okay.

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Moving
17 to (b).

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: (b).

19 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: A
20 technical thing on (b)(1), you see that (2)(a) 21 says "impartiality might reasonably be 22 questioned." I would suggest adding 23 "impartiality might reasonably be questioned 24 by a reasonable member of the public." And 25 that's just, by definition, anybody that files

1 a motion to recuse is questioning your 2 partiality, and the question is whether it's 3 reasonable. And Judge Enoch in his recent 4 opinion says it's the public's viewpoint. But 5 that's just a suggestion. I don't care one 6 way or the other, in case that influences your 7 vote.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Are there any 9 other changes in (b)? Are there any other 10 changes in (b) from the current rule?

11 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yes.
12 That's (b)(1). I've got (b)(2), (b)(4), 13 (b)(7), (b)(8).

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Let's
15 see what those are.

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: (b)(2)
17 is suggesting that the judge has a personal 18 bias or prejudice, and we discussed this 19 somewhat. My suggestion is that it be the 20 judge's actions or statements other than 21 rulings on the case demonstrate a bias or 22 prejudice.

23 In the draft we discussed making it that 24 the judge's rulings on the case are not 25 grounds for recusal but may be evidence

1 supporting other grounds for recusal.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Where is
3 that?

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That
5 was in Lee's draft. Let's see --

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But it's 7 gone; it's not in here now?

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Right.
9 And this is because of the problem -- the 10 problem, the cases say this, I mean, you know,
11 your remedy for a bad ruling is appeal.
12 That's why they have appellate courts, to 13 straighten out my bad rulings.

14 MR. ORSINGER: If I may, Luke,
15 a prior incarnation of this, the 16 subcommittee's prior incarnation before we 17 went into Lee's which then led us into Scott's 18 had the sentence, "The judge's ruling shall 19 not be used as the grounds for the motion but 20 may be used as evidence supporting the 21 motion." And that was based on a Supreme 22 Court Advisory Committee vote.

24 right. It was by this Committee, this 25 session.

1 MR. ORSINGER: And our whole
2 version has gone into the toilet, but that 3 concept didn't go in the toilet.

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: And I
5 don't mind putting that concept back in.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, we
7 voted to leave that in. Mike.

8 MR. GALLAGHER: Well, appellate 9 relief from a bad ruling applies to the 10 litigation perhaps in which that occurred.
11 This may be subsequent litigation.

12 And I'm just asking, point of 13 information, if you're talking about bias or 14 prejudice, why would we not be able to 15 demonstrate that bias or prejudice through a 16 prior ruling of the court?

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: This language
18 was compromise language reached by this 19 Committee sometime in the last year and a 20 half, the effect of which we thought was to 21 say you can't prove a judge's bias or 22 prejudice just from the judge's rulings. But 23 if you have other evidence of that, you can 24 augment that evidence by showing how the judge
25 has ruled in the case. Carl Hamilton.

1 MR. HAMILTON: Well, you could 2 also use the other rulings to prove (b)(1), 3 that he was impartial, right? You're not 4 precluded from using other rulings to prove 5 (b)(1), are you?

6 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: All
7 this is saying is your motion to recuse based 8 on bias can't cite only statements and rulings
9 made in court. That's all I intended to say.
10 I didn't intend it to be used as anything but 11 support.

12 MR. HAMILTON: The language
13 that Richard has got would cure the problem.

15 right. And we voted to keep that in, so we 16 want that back, and Judge Brister has agreed 17 to it.

18 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's 19 fine. On (b)(4), I just suggest that we make 20 it -- this is the one about whether the judge 21 has personal knowledge of the case. Let's 22 see, it's under 18b(2)(b), the second half of 23 the bias, prejudice, "has personal knowledge 24 of disputed evidentiary facts concerning the 25 proceeding."

1 Now, what if the disputed evidentiary
2 facts are evidence as to what was done for 3 sanctions, you know, what opposing counsel did 4 in court or for contempt or --

5 MR. ORSINGER: Gained prior to 6 filing the motion or gained prior to filing 7 the lawsuit?

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Either
9 one. I was just trying to show that --

10 MR. ORSINGER: There's a big 11 difference.

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: There
13 will be -- there are a lot of things I ruled 14 on that are based on what I saw in court, but 15 I don't think anybody means that to be bias or 16 it to be a ground for recusal, do they?

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I don't think
18 a judge is precluded from a jury view. A 19 judge view. Go out and look at the 20 intersection. Does any of this stuff make 21 sense? A jury can't go, but the judge can.

22 MR. ORSINGER: If we interpret
23 "filing" to mean the filing of the lawsuit, 24 that's going to exclude judges who, because of 25 their community involvement or whatever, are

1 aware of the issue before a suit is even 2 filed. Those would be the judges we would 3 want out, wouldn't we?

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah. This 5 means before filing the suit.

6 MR. ORSINGER: Okay.

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: And
8 it's personal knowledge, not something you
9 read about in the paper.

10 MR. HAMILTON: Before the -- is 11 the word "filing," is that filing of the suit 12 or filing of the motion?

13 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I think
14 it was suggested that it be filing of the 15 suit. I intended it to be filing of the suit, 16 but --

17 MS. GARDNER: Luke, this is 18 Anne Gardner.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Anne Gardner,
20 thank you. Excuse me.

21 MS. GARDNER: I just wanted to 22 make a comment about the personal knowledge 23 that I had on a case that happened where the 24 judge during the trial spoke with a member of 25 the community while he was off the bench,

1 while the case was in recess or over the 2 weekend, and acquired some knowledge, some 3 personal knowledge based on which he granted a 4 new trial after judgment, after verdict had 5 been rendered for the party that I was going 6 to represent, and then recused himself. And 7 there was nothing we could do, because I
8 didn't get hired until after 75 days, so I
9 just wanted to mention that.

10 I mean, it could happen during the trial 11 but outside of open court or outside of the 12 trial proceedings that a judge could acquire 13 personal knowledge that could bias him.

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I don't 15 have a strong feeling. I'll leave it the way
16 it is if people feel more comfortable doing
17 that. I just thought there was a potential 18 problem there in doing that.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: If you leave
20 it the way it is, this No. 4 would stop where?

22 would read just like the second half of 23 current (2)(b), so it would say, "The judge
24 has personal knowledge of disputed evidentiary
25 facts concerning the proceeding." Change

1 "gained prior to filing" to "concerning the 2 proceeding," and just leave it as is.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: The
5 next one is --

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What's the 7 Committee's pleasure on that, leave it as is 8 or change it to this language?

9 Those in favor of leaving it as is.
10 Four.

11 Those who want to change it. Four.
12 Okay. It's a tie vote. No change.

13 MR. ORSINGER: Oh, I think we 14 ought to have some discussion about it then.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, that's 16 what we've been talking about.

17 MR. ORSINGER: I mean, it seems 18 to me that the current language on its face is 19 not workable, because if the judge were to see 20 a contemptuous act committed in his presence 21 and wanted to include that in a motion for 22 sanctions or something, he couldn't do it
23 because it's personal knowledge.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: What
25 raised this in my mind is occasionally you see

1 the bad actors who have gotten crossways to 2 the judge, or maybe it's a bad judge,
3 whichever one, and in the move to recuse him,
4 they name the judge as a witness to the bad
5 things that have been done to them in court.
6 And then they naturally move to recuse the 7 judge because the judge now has personal 8 knowledge of evidentiary facts. That clearly 9 seems to be an abuse.

10 And I don't sense that the judges ruling 11 on those are having problems seeing that as an 12 abuse, but technically the rule does say 13 evidentiary facts concerning the proceeding.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

15 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Do you
16 want to just hold it and think about it?

17 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I would 18 like to raise the issue of whether we ought to 19 call it "material facts." Maybe we don't need 20 that, because if it's the current language and 21 if it's not broke, maybe we don't need to fix
22 it. But to me, the facts ought to be material 23 before they would work a recusal.

24 In a small town you're going to have lots 25 of knowledge of facts, but they're not

1 necessarily going to be material. You may 2 know -- like in a divorce case, this quite 3 often happens in the rural counties, that they 4 know both the husband and the wife, but they 5 don't recuse just because of that, because 6 they don't have a lot of detail about the 7 community assets and stuff like that. And to 8 me, there is a reason to make it material
9 before it works a recusal.

10 MR. McMANS: Well, actually 11 now it says "disputed evidentiary facts," 12 right?

13 MR. ORSINGER: Well, maybe it's 14 not a problem, because if that's our current 15 language, it doesn't appear to be broken. But 16 if I were writing this rule, I would want it 17 to be material before you would recuse.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well --

19 MR. McMANS: Are you talking
20 about material in lieu of disputed facts?

21 MR. ORSINGER: No. In addition 22 to.

23 MR. McMANS: So material in 24 addition to?

25 MR. ORSINGER: In addition to.

1 MR. McMains: Because you have 2 to do a lot to dispute immaterial facts.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I mean, the 4 way the rule -- I don't know if anybody knows 5 where this stuff came from, from the original 6 rule, but it came right out of the CJC 3(c).
7 The language in the rule today, unless 3(c) of 8 the CJC has been changed, is universally used 9 across the United States.

10 MR. ORSINGER: Well, then how 11 come we're --

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's why I
13 puzzle about using all this time to rewrite 14 18a and 18b when they don't seem to be really 15 a problem.

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Because 17 it's not a problem for you, Luke, it's a 18 problem for me. It doesn't hold you up. I 19 have been patient listening to the rules that 20 you care about. I'm telling you, this is the 21 one my colleagues care about. I have three 22 10-page requests of how we should change this 23 rule from my colleagues.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

25 MR. McMains: And they want to 1 repeal the Constitution, too, don't they?

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
3 one is from P. K. Reiter, who hears most of 4 these in Houston, because of just the 5 suggestions I'm raising. He sees these 6 constant problems.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
8 What do we do with (b)(4)? Let's do something 9 and get on with it. Carl Hamilton.

10 MR. HAMILTON: I make a motion
11 we let it read, "The judge has personal 12 knowledge of material evidentiary facts
13 relating to the dispute between the parties," 14 and leave out the "gained prior to filing" 15 part.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Second?

17 MR. JACKS: Second.

18 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I'll 19 second that.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The Committee
21 has accepted it. Okay. The judge has 22 personal knowledge of material evidentiary
23 facts?

24 MR. HAMILTON: Material
25 evidentiary facts relating to the dispute

1 between the parties.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Does
3 anyone object? It's done.

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Next is
5 my (b)(7), which you compare to the 18b(2)(e) 6 and (f)(ii). The judge is recused for 7 financial interest of family members, this is 8 not the judge but family members, only if 9 they're known. And as I described earlier, I
10 think, number one, that means you to have call 11 the judge as a witness, with all of the 12 problems that entails for the future, to show 13 when the judge did or did not know. And if 14 the interest is substantial, it's not any less 15 unsavory that my daughter is going to make a 16 ton of money off of this that I purport not to 17 have known about it.

18 The current rule says -- then you also 19 compare on the second page of the comparison 20 No. 6 in the current rule under "Waiver and 21 Cure." The current rule has a perverse 22 incentive. If I say I don't know about it and 23 I'm deeply into the case, then I can sell the 24 interest and keep the case. I'm not sure why 25 that's better if I've already made a bunch of 1 rulings to keep on than if I haven't even 2 started.

3 My suggestion is that, you know, if the 4 judge's family has a financial interest, he 5 ought to be recused and the new judge ought to 6 look at the previously made rulings and decide 7 if we need to revisit those or not. That is 8 just, you know --

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It takes out
10 what concept?

12 takes out the concept of getting to keep the 13 case if you say you didn't know it and you 14 worked on it a long time. My case, if it's 15 just a financial interest, it takes out having 16 to have any discovery about what the judge did 17 know and when did they know it, and that focus 18 is it's not going to read good in the Wall
19 Street Journal if the judge's cousin gets rich 20 off of this case and we all throw up our hands
21 and say, "Oh, well, he didn't know about it."

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. That's 23 out. And then anything else?

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Okay.

25 (b)(8).

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Now,
2 help me with this. I'm not really following 3 this.

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Sure.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: "A judge must 6 recuse in the following circumstances: The 7 judge or the judge's spouse is related by 8 consanguinity or affinity within the third 9 degree to anyone with an economic in the 10 matter" -- is that supposed to be "or to a 11 party"? I'm having trouble really with the 12 words here.

13 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Are you
14 looking at (2)(e) in the current rule?

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No, (b)(7).

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Oh, my 17 (b)(7)?

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Your writing
19 on (b)(1). The judge or the judge's spouse is 20 related to anyone with an economic interest in 21 the --

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It's an 23 economic in the matter or an economic interest
24 in the party. In other words, if you're a 25 share -- that's where it comes up. You got --

1 it turns out you've got 100 shares of HL&P and 2 HL&P is a party.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So it's an 4 economic interest in a party?

5 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's
6 what I intended it to say.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: An economic 8 interest in -- how can you have an economic 9 interest in a party?

10 MR. ORSINGER: If it's a 11 corporation or a partnership.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Oh, okay. In 13 a party. Or, what, has any other interest?

14 MR. ORSINGER: It would have to 15 have the word "has."

16 MS. GARDNER: Or "with."

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: To anyone
18 with an economic interest in the matter or a 19 party, or any other interest -- or with any 20 other interest. Isn't that supposed to be "or 21 with any other interest that could be 22 substantially affected."

23 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: The
24 current rule says have an -- has an -- have 25 an -- has an -- have an interest, but "with"

1 is fine, whatever.

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: With. Okay.
3 With an interest that could be substantially 4 affected.

5 Okay. And then the next one is, what,
6 (8)?

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: The
8 next one is (8). And this is -- the current 9 rule bars spouse, bars lawyer, hearing a case
10 where the lawyer is first-degree related. So 11 that means I can hear a case with my brother 12 as a lawyer, and that's just a policy
13 question. It seems -- I'm suggesting in this 14 day with as many judges and visiting judges as 15 we've got it ought to be the same as it is for 16 parties. So the question is straight up and 17 down. Do you want the judge hearing the case
18 when the brother -- when the opposing side
19 hires his brother? I wouldn't, but maybe you 20 do.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What degree
22 is a brother?

24 brother is second degree.

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And a child

1 is first?

2 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Yes.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And we've got 4 this going to the third?

5 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You've
6 got to go to a common ancestor.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, you
8 know, I have some problems with this in the 9 rural areas.

10 MR. JACKS: Isn't there a
11 statute that passed in the ninety -- Mike, are 12 you still here? There was a statute passed in 13 the '93 session, I think, which dealt with 14 this issue and it passed despite the concerns 15 of rural judges whose relatives practice in 16 their court on a regular basis. I can't give 17 you a reference to it, but I think there's 18 something on the books about it.

19 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
20 I mean, this doesn't affect you all, this 21 affects my daughters. I mean, for crying out 22 loud, do you want to try a case against my 23 daughter or my sister or my brother? I mean, 24 my daughter would be excluded, but you know --

25 MR. JACKS: I was thinking

1 about hiring her actually.

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Or my 3 daughter's kids, when I'm a visiting judge and 4 my daughter's kids come in and try the case
5 against you? It's fine with me if it's fine
6 with you.

7 MS. McNAMARA: The Wall Street
8 Journal will love it.

10 Wall Street Journal would eat it up.

11 MR. JACKS: I'm not arguing
12 with you. I'm on your side. I just think 13 there may be a statute that touches on this.

15 statute says first degree.

16 MR. JACKS: Is that all?

17 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: That's why
18 it says first degree there.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Not in (8).
20 It says third degree.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's
22 my proposal, is to extend it to third degree.

23 MR. ORSINGER: That's the 24 current rule, Luke.

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The current

1 rule says first degree. Okay.

2 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: First
3 degree is stupid.

4 MR. ORSINGER: It's not broad 5 enough?

6 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: We always
7 say third degree in every other circumstance.

8 MR. JACKSON: The court
9 reporter is the third degree.

10 MR. McMANS: Well, you witness
11 the third degree all the time.

12 MR. JACKS: Well, I'm in favor
13 of it. Whether it's in statute or not, I'm in 14 favor of it.

15 MR. ORSINGER: Me too.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Third
17 degree. Two brothers are practicing law. One 18 of them gets an opportunity to be the judge.
19 He's the only person who wants to be the 20 judge, but he can't take the job because if he 21 does, he puts the brother out of business.
22 Everything the brother wants to do they have 23 to get a visiting judge to come in.

24 MR. ORSINGER: If my choice is 25 to go against that brother in that court, I

1 would rather have what you just said than to 2 fight regularly the judge's brother in all my 3 cases.

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: He
5 doesn't have to go out of business. The other 6 side files a motion for recusal, which can be 7 waived, this is recusal, they can try it if 8 they want. If they don't try it, there's only 9 about a million visiting judges that are 10 begging for business that can come in and hear 11 them.

12 MR. ORSINGER: Not only that,
13 but it opens up a secondary market of people 14 hiring the brother to disqualify the judge, so 15 he may make more money with less work.

16 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: What about 17 the argument of what's the point of being a 18 judge unless you can rule in favor of your 19 brother?

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What if we 21 would have had this one, Tommy? We could have 22 hired the judge's brother, we hire the judge's 23 brother and say, "Judge, you're recused 24 because your brother is our lawyer."

25 MR. JACKS: Yeah. Of course,

1 the other side in that case might have figured
2 that --

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: -- they 4 already had the brother.

5 MR. JACKS: Yeah, that's 6 right.

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: They
8 might have waived it.

9 MR. JACKS: They might have 10 figured that it trumped the brother.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
12 What do we want to use? First, second, third 13 or what?

14 MR. ORSINGER: Three.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. The 16 third degree. Next, Judge.

17 MR. HAMILTON: Luke, I have a
18 question on No. 7.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes, Carl.

20 MR. HAMILTON: Is (7) intended
21 to state that if the judge's spouse is related 22 in the third degree to a party --

24 the current rule.

25 MR. HAMILTON: But it says

1 there has to be an economic interest to the 2 party. What if there's just a relation but no
3 economic interest?

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
5 the spouse is now -- well, let's see, that is 6 in (6), the paragraph before. The judge or 7 the judge's spouse is relate by consanguinity
8 or affinity within the third degree to a party
9 or an officer, director, or trustee of a 10 party.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Next.

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: (c), 13 the waiver and cure, is the same with the 14 exception that, as I indicated, if you drop 15 the knowing, the -- drop the knowing -- well, 16 the way I suggested doing it in the waiver and 17 cure is if you sell the economic interest you 18 can continue on the case but any rulings made 19 prior thereto are voidable.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Is that a 21 rule now?

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: The
23 current rule is that if you divest the 24 interest you can keep the case, but only if 25 you're knee-deep in it, if you've ruled on

1 lots of rulings on it.

2 MR. ORSINGER: Voidable by
3 who?

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well, I
5 didn't say that, did I?

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: By that 7 judge. He's the judge.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
9 what I explained earlier was different from 10 what I've got written here, which is just that 11 basically you can't divest. If you've got an 12 interest, you need to recuse.

13 And the question is, what arises when you
14 find out there's a car wreck with an HL&P van,
15 minor injuries, $100, 100 shares of HL&P 16 stock. Can you sell the stock, keep the 17 case? Or should you just be automatically 18 recused?

19 And I'll go with whatever everybody
20 agrees or thinks is best on that, but it 21 doesn't seem to me to make sense to say -- to 22 make a distinction between judges where -- 23 between cases where you've made lots of 24 rulings and cases where you haven't started 25 yet as far as how it's going to look. And

1 especially if you haven't given the question
2 of whether and what the judge knew. I think 3 most judges would just assume not take the 4 stand. And if they own stock, for crying out 5 loud, if you own stock in one of the 6 companies, you get somebody else to hear it.

7 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: How does
8 this work, Scott? If I make a ruling in a 9 good-sized case, the party that lost starts
10 looking around and finds that I've got a 11 sister in Fort Worth who owns some stock in a 12 company that was a party and I didn't know 13 about it, I didn't even think about it, and 14 over on the next page you can make a motion at 15 any time. Can they come back in and void what 16 I've done?

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: They
18 can come back in and move to recuse. And the 19 question is, have you devoted substantial time
20 and did you know that? You, of course, say
21 you don't. They, of course, are going to say 22 you did or should have.

23 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: And where 24 is knowledge in your rule?

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I've

1 dropped it.

2 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Okay.
3 Well, if it can be strung out that far, I
4 think that may be too much.

5 MR. ORSINGER: It can be.

6 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Stock
7 ownership does bother me on this. I don't 8 know what stock my wife has got or my brothers 9 and sister or my brother-in-law.

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: What
11 would be the harm if they come in and do that 12 and you pass it off to somebody else who 13 decides to revisit your ruling?

14 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Oh, so the 15 only thing at stake is they see if the second 16 judge agrees with the rulings?

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: In 18 recusal that's always the case. Nothing is 19 void under recusal. It just goes to a new 20 judge, and the new judge, of course, can 21 always revisit it.

22 MR. ORSINGER: Well, then
23 "voidable" means voidable by the new judge, 24 not voidable by the sitting judge.

25 MR. JACKS: That's right.

1 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: No.
2 Well, not in the way I originally drafted it.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, we 4 either leave --

5 MR. McMAINS: "Voidable" sounds
6 to me like that it's basically at the election 7 of whoever it is that lost the ruling.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It's just a
9 motion for reconsideration.

10 MR. McMAINS: Well, I mean, if 11 all you're saying is that the new judge has 12 plenary power to change the other rulings,
13 that's always the case.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's 15 right. Well, do we want -- I guess the 16 substantive issue, one of the substantive 17 issues here is, if the parties discover it, 18 and whether or not the judge knew, they bring 19 to the judge's attention a disqualification
20 for the economic interest of a person with a 21 third degree of relationship, does the judge 22 or must the judge recuse even if the judge is 23 deep in the case? Judge Peeples.

24 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: See, I
25 don't have any problem with forcing a recusal

1 when it's brought to the judge's attention
2 early on. But after somebody has lost the 3 rulings who goes snooping around and finds out 4 that the third degree of consanguinity and 5 it's a distant relative that owns some stock
6 in a company, I just think that goes way too 7 far.

8 MR. MEADOWS: I have to say I
9 agree with that. If you've got a situation
10 where your spouse owns 200 shares of Exxon, 11 and as you say, deep in the case your opposing 12 lawyer turns that up to turn out that judge, 13 and all the rulings and all the effort that's 14 gone into making those rulings is just 15 wasted. It seems to me that that invites 16 gamesmanship in a situation where the stock 17 ownership is absolutely inconsequential, and 18 so I don't --

19 MR. HAMILTON: But what if she 20 owns 200,000 shares?

21 MS. McNAMARA: The securities
22 laws define beneficial interest in stock. If 23 you take care of the judge and his beneficial 24 interest in stock, it will include the 25 spouse. And say if that beneficial interest

1 exists, whether it's 200 shares or 200,000
2 shares, he should step aside. And then don't 3 make the judge worry about what his brothers
4 and sisters own. The problem is, I don't 5 think I know what my brother owns.

6 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
7 you have to. The code of -- the Canons of 8 Ethics say the judge, let me see, I had it a 9 second ago, shall be informed about the 10 judge's personal economic interest and make a 11 reasonable effort to be informed about the 12 personal economic interest of any family
13 member residing in the judge's household.

14 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Well,
15 that's different. That's very different.

16 MR. MEADOWS: But I think the 17 distinction between my example and Mike's 18 example is that the judge that owns 200 shares 19 and the spouse that owns 200 shares and they 20 are involved in the case and don't feel they 21 should be recused will sell the stock. That 22 judge or that judge's spouse are not going to 23 sell 200,000 shares with those kind of profits
24 at stake. They're going to recuse
25 themselves. So it's only going to really

1 be -- come into effect if you've got a
2 situation where the stock ownership really 3 doesn't matter and the judge will divest.

4 MR. GALLAGHER: Well, in that 5 circumstance I tend to agree. But there was 6 one over which Judge Bunton just presided in 7 West Texas in which a brother owned a
8 substantial ownership in a defendant company
9 and refused to recuse himself. He ultimately 10 did, and then Judge Bunton was appointed to 11 revisit the question and all the rulings. But 12 that was a case in which the brother had a 13 substantial interest in the stock ownership of 14 the defendant corporation. And that's a 15 little frightening to know that your brother
16 has a big, huge financial interest or know 17 that the brother, the judge, has a huge 18 financial interest in Exxon or Shell or 19 whoever it might be.

20 MR. MEADOWS: Yeah, I'll agree
21 with that.

22 MR. GALLAGHER: So not a wife
23 where it's community property or a husband 24 where it's community property, but a brother.

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Richard.

1 MR. ORSINGER: It seems to me
2 that if you're -- on this issue of being far
3 into a case and it's called to your attention
4 that this exists, particularly if it's outside 5 your household, that the issue of knowledge is 6 really important, because if the judge didn't 7 know it, there's no way for it to have 8 prejudiced the judge's rulings and there's no 9 reason to go back and set aside orders. If 10 the judge did know it, there is reason to 11 suspect that the rulings were prejudiced and 12 therefore ought to be retroactively
13 invalidated if the judge is recused.

14 So it seems to me that if we're going to 15 grapple with this issue about a well developed 16 case and an economic interest that surfaces
17 after the case is developed that knowledge 18 ought to be back in it. And if there was 19 knowledge, let's assume prejudice. And if 20 there wasn't knowledge, let's assume no
21 prejudice.

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: But the 23 judge is going to say "I didn't know." Now, 24 are you going to take that on face value?

25 MR. ORSINGER: I don't know

1 what my alternative is.

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
3 you could depose him, subpoena him, have him
4 testify at a hearing. And if you lose, this 5 judge you just cross-examined is now still 6 your judge. I agree with you in theory. I'm 7 just saying in practice --

8 MR. ORSINGER: Well, in 9 practice --

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: -- in a 11 day when we don't have a problem with lots of 12 other judges who can hear the case, it seems 13 to me the balance of I'm going to keep on the 14 case. Now I know for sure that my family is 15 going to make a lot of money on this case, but 16 because you can't convince my colleague who 17 has been appointed to hear this case that I 18 knew before, which remember, for him or her 19 who is reviewing that, they're going to have 20 to call me a liar and find that I did know it 21 when -- and I now am going to keep on the 22 case, our family is going to make millions of 23 dollars, and it's no problem when we have all 24 these other judges who can hear it, it ain't 25 worth fighting over.

1 MR. MEADOWS: But I think it
2 might be worth fighting over. If you've got a 3 more benign situation in the example I gave 4 where the judge's spouse owns 200 shares and 5 that only becomes an issue when you're deep in 6 the case and the opposing counsel discovers it 7 to get out of those rulings and get out of 8 that court, then I don't think it's just a 9 matter of, well, there are a lot of other 10 judges. One of the parties is going to be 11 seriously adversely affected by this change.

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Only if 13 the new judge voids the rulings. Nothing
14 requires the new judge to do that. I sure 15 wouldn't revisit them all unless there was 16 something that smelled.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Judge, why
18 not this approach: Say the judge -- make the 19 rule say the judge has to get out. A lot of 20 judges step into cases where there have been 21 lots of rulings, and I don't know whether 22 there is going to occur more frequently than a 23 judge dying on the bench, but unfortunately, 24 we have judges die on the bench way into the 25 case, sometimes way into the jury trial of the 1 case. The judge comes in, the parties get him

2 up to speed and finish the case. Okay. So 3 what? What's the big deal of just saying the 4 judge has to get out, and then don't even talk 5 about voidness.

7 fine with me.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So that a
9 party that wants to come in and say, "I got a 10 bad rap from the judge because he was biased 11 and I want you to reconsider this," they can 12 file that motion.

13 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I would 14 second that.

15 MR. MEADOWS: So we're doing
16 away -- just so we have it clear, we're doing 17 away with the ability to cure by selling the 18 stock?

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Right.
20 That's what this would do.

21 MS. McNAMARA: And you're doing
22 it both for spouses and for sisters?

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, this 24 goes further than that.

25 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah. This goes

1 to nieces and nephews and brothers of your 2 wife and a lot of people who you don't have 3 any idea what they own.

4 MS. McNAMARA: It seems to make 5 sense to carve out for these people other than 6 spouses something short of a controlling 7 interest. I mean, they ought to be able to 8 own less than a controlling interest in a 9 publicly traded company. The idea that your 10 brother owns 200 shares of Exxon and he didn't 11 tell you about it, that just seems --

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, what's 13 spouse and children, is that first degree?

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Spouses
15 and children are first.

16 MR. ORSINGER: No, spouses are 17 affinity, and children are first degree of 18 consanguinity.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But they're 20 still first degree.

21 MR. ORSINGER: Yes. First
22 degree of consanguinity.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Why not say
24 recusal pursuant to subparagraph (b)(7) is not 25 required except for the first degree? Then

1 you've got the brother problem, right?

2 MS. McNAMARA: If your brother
3 has control of the company, he's got an 4 ownership in a closely held company, there's an 5 opportunity for abuse. But if he holds
6 200 shares of Exxon, I think the opportunity 7 for abuse is pretty much attenuated.

8 MR. ORSINGER: Did we not say a
9 brother is second degree?

10 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: You have 11 to go up and then down again.

12 MR. ORSINGER: So if your line
13 is first degree, your brother is on the other 14 side of that line, but the wife is on the 15 inside of that line and your mom and your dad
16 and your kids are on the inside of that line.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Let me
18 point out that ownership -- in the code, 19 ownership of a financial interest does not 20 include mutual funds, so this is -- you know, 21 if you personally own the stock, you're the 22 record holder. It's not, you know, you've got 23 a mutual fund that may own something, so it's 24 not all that many of us that play particular 25 stocks. Most of the people in this room, but

1 not that many people in general.

2 MR. ORSINGER: Well, after the 3 judicial raises go through, there will be 4 more.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. What
6 are we going to do with this? Somebody come 7 up with an idea. Are we going to leave it the 8 same, recusal pursuant to subparagraph (b)(7) 9 is not required if the economic interest is 10 divested, but any rulings made prior thereto
11 are voidable?

12 I think at least the last clause ought to 13 come out. Okay. The last clause goes for 14 sure. Leave that to motions to reconsider or 15 whatever somebody wants to do.

16 Okay. Are we going to say recusal is not 17 required if the economic interest is 18 divested? Okay. If it's within the third 19 degree, the brother is not going to sell his 20 major interest in a publicly held corporation.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
22 in my redraft -- you will either vote for the 23 same current rule, which is you can cure if 24 you prove you didn't know and you divest and 25 you're not deep into it, or you are deep --

1 I'm sorry, or you can cure if you didn't 2 know -- you are deep into it and you sell.
3 And my proposal would be no cure, and you're 4 recused if it's shown that the family had a
5 financial interest.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
7 Let's take that. I think Anne disagrees with 8 that, so there is disagreement, but I think we 9 know what it is. Those who agree with Judge
10 Brister show by hands. Nine.

11 Those who agree with Anne. Two.

12 Nine to two. Okay.

13 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: So drop 14 on my paragraph (c) "and Cure" and drop the 15 last sentence entirely.

16 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: The last 17 sentence?

18 MR. ORSINGER: What do you
19 mean, drop "and cure"? Drop it out of the 20 title?

21 MR. McMains: Yeah, because 22 there's not a cure. There is no cure.

23 MR. ORSINGER: Okay. You can't 24 cure anymore.

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Next.

1 MR. ORSINGER: Well, before we
2 leave this section, I want to say something.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Just a
4 minute, let's not -- that's not the only 5 way -- okay. Let's go on and maybe it will 6 get into the next.

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Next is 8 the thing we discussed in detail before, the 9 10-day cutoff.

10 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I would
11 like to discuss something more about (c)
12 before we go on. Can I do that?

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, does it
14 have to do with you can also waive if you 15 don't make a timely filing?

16 MR. ORSINGER: Yes.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. I
18 think that may get cured in the next part. If 19 it doesn't, we've got to come back to it.

20 MR. ORSINGER: Okay.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That was my 22 reasoning for why I was going on with it.
23 Okay. Judge Brister.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: The 25 next one is the time of filing question. The

1 current rule is there's a 10-day cutoff, and 2 if you're -- at least in the rule, if the 3 motion is filed less than 10 days before the 4 hearing and you knew about the hearing more 5 than 10 days before, it's thrown -- it can be 6 thrown -- well, not thrown in the wastebasket, 7 but you don't have to pay any attention to 8 it. There's a couple of cases that made 9 exceptions to that, and the compromise
10 proposal we voted on last time was, since the 11 concern of my colleagues about doing anything 12 to the 10-day cutoff, is the motion that's 13 filed in the middle of a pretrial conference 14 or when a motion for continuance is denied, so 15 you can get an automatic continuance while it 16 goes up to the regional judge, et cetera. And 17 the compromise was, well, we'll allow you to 18 file it late, but it doesn't stay the case.

19 And as I say in my little paragraph 20 there, if you can file it late but it's not 21 going to stay the case, you don't need a time 22 requirement at all.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What
24 paragraph are you looking at, Judge?

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's

1 my -- it's 18a, current 18a(a), and it's my 2 paragraph -- well, there's no time limit in 3 mine because I'm proposing dropping it, but 4 the important thing is in my paragraph (d)(3), 5 Interim Proceedings. A judge may proceed with 6 the case if a motion to recuse alleges only 7 grounds listed in (b)(1), (2) and (3). And 8 that is the ones that are always listed in 9 these motions, that you're biased, that you're 10 prejudiced, or that you're a witness to your 11 own bias or prejudice.

12 Now, that would still mean two days
13 before the trial you can file a motion saying 14 the judge's spouse has stock and the case will 15 be automatically stayed, but as we discussed 16 last time, those aren't the problem. These 17 last minute things that are just a last minute 18 way to get an automatic continuance are always 19 one of the first three, because, of course,
20 you've got to actually have some proof on all 21 of the rest of them.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, okay.

23 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: But if 24 you wanted leave the 10-day time limit in, 25 that's fine. I just don't see any point if

1 the deal is you can file before it or you can 2 file after it. I suppose the distinction
3 might be that if they file a bias or prejudice
4 motion more than 10 days, if you have a 10-day 5 motion, then it would automatically stay, but 6 if it was less than 10 days, then it wouldn't.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, isn't 8 it the law now that if a judge acts while he's 9 under a recusal challenge and it's not in an 10 emergency and stated in the order that the 11 order is an invalid order?

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Right.
13 But if the motion is filed in less than 14 10 days, within 10 days of trial, it's not 15 referred, it is ignored, because it is not a 16 proper motion. A proper motion has to be 17 filed more than 10 days before.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Unless.

19 MR. YELENOSKY: You didn't get 20 10 days' notice.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Right.

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: No,
23 that's what happens. Now, you may on appeal
24 convince two out of three appellate judges 25 that we should make an exception for this

1 case. But let me tell you, 100 percent of the 2 time, when a case is set for trial six months
3 in advance trial, you show up at trial and you
4 don't like the way it's going and you file a
5 handwritten motion to recuse, it is ignored.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Disregarded.
7 Okay. Carl Hamilton.

8 MR. HAMILTON: I think Judge
9 Hedges' court of appeals over there rewrote
10 this rule for the Court Rules Committee. I
11 don't know whether she gave you a copy of hers
12 or not, but we submitted one. I don't have a 13 copy of it, but I think we left the 10 days in 14 there with an exception that if you only 15 discovered the grounds for recusal within that 16 10-day period.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: But
18 that's what we voted down last time.

19 MR. HAMILTON: Okay.

20 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's 21 what we voted down, because the problem is 22 they will say, "I didn't discover you were 23 biased and prejudiced against me until I
24 started seeing the way you were ruling."

25 MR. HAMILTON: But you say most

1 of them are based on (1), (2) or (3) and so 2 that really eliminates the purpose of the 3 rule. If you're right about that, the case
4 goes on anyway, you haven't accomplished a 5 whole lot if you have a good recusal but the 6 case goes on.

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Right,
8 which makes it no fun to file that motion.

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Let's
10 take 10 minutes. The court reporter needs a 11 break. We'll be back here at 10 minutes to 12 4:00.

13 (Recess.)

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
15 Let's go to work. I know everyone is getting 16 tired, but we've got lots of work to do.

17 Okay. Judge Brister, I'm more concerned
18 about the concept of (3) than the details 19 right now, and I'd like to get that out on the 20 table, if we can, for discussion.

21 We have a judge who is facing the 22 challenge of a recusal motion. This judge is 23 a judge whose impartiality is reasonably 24 questioned by a reasonable member of the 25 public. This judge is also a judge who, by

1 his actions or statements, has demonstrated a
2 bias or a prejudice concerning the subject
3 matter or a party, and this judge is also a 4 material witness, formerly practiced law with 5 a material witness and is related to a 6 material witness and such witness' spouse
7 within the third degree.

8 Now, that's the judge that we have on the 9 bench at this moment, and that judge gets 10 20 days to rap your body without any 11 constraints. Is that what we want?

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
13 most of those -- well, let's take those one by 14 one. How are you going to -- you just can't 15 put that laundry list of allegations. The 16 motion has to state it specifically.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I've 18 stated them all, and they're all true.

19 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: All
20 right. So you've got proof that the judge has 21 these investments or the spouse has these 22 investments?

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No, it
24 doesn't have anything to do with investments.
25 It's (1), (2) and (3).

1 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I
2 thought you were saying some of the investment
3 stuff. It's just bias and prejudice?

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Is a witness,
5 is related to witnesses, and this judge has 6 got 20 days to rock and roll, no constraints
7 except some other judge eventually taking that 8 judge's place and having to go back.

9 The present law is, when that judge is 10 confronted with a motion to recuse, that judge 11 has to rein up on the case. If the judge does 12 anything, the judge has to find this is an 13 emergency, something needs to be done, it's 14 that important, and only grant relief
15 sufficient to endure the emergency. Anything 16 beyond that is invalid from the time or from 17 the moment the motion is filed, but that's the 18 current rule. This other law is what I said, 19 or this proposal. Is that what we want?

20 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: No.
21 Let me -- my original position was don't 22 change the rule. Let me still have the 10-day
23 automatic. I thought the deal was this was a 24 compromise that David Beck and others were 25 saying we can't have a blanket 10-day. It's

1 too late -- excuse me -- and so the compromise
2 was, okay, you can file it late (coughing).

3 MR. YELENOSKY: Now they're 4 putting stuff in your drink.

5 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
6 Let me go get a drink, but that -- if you want
7 to go back to the current, I'm happy with it,
8 but I want -- the problem is the three days
9 before trial. If that doesn't stay it, that 10 doesn't even get considered right now. If you 11 want to leave it that way, that's fine with me
12 too.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, now,
14 you've got one -- well, let's give Judge
15 Brister a second here.

16 (Pause.)

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Now,
18 the present rule was written with a deliberate 19 drop-dead on motions to recuse. If you've got 20 10 days' notice of a hearing or a trial, the 21 judge proceeds. And you still can review that 22 ruling on appeal and say "I got hosed," but 23 you cannot stop it. It's going to happen.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Right.
25 So the trade-off was --

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: 10 years ago
2 that was the compromise people made, and 3 10 days was short but long enough. People 4 ought to know their rights by then or have to 5 go through the pain of a biased hearing that 6 they might be able to get relief on appeal.
7 Okay.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: And we 9 took a vote on that.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So old rule
11 or new rule? And then you do have one point 12 in here that may have some merit on either 13 case and that is suppose the ground doesn't 14 come up. No one could have known about it
15 until 10 days because the ground didn't exist 16 until 10 days. That might be something we 17 could consider even in the old-rule
18 circumstance. Other than that, it's either 19 old rule or new rule sort of up or down. Is 20 that the way you see it, Judge?

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
22 You've either got to have a cutoff when 23 there's no stay or no cutoff but no stay.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's 25 right. And that was clear when the first rule

1 was passed. 10 days was a drop-dead rule.

2 Does anyone have any objection to voting
3 up or down, old rule, new rule?

4 Okay. Those in favor of the old rule 5 show by hands. Five.

6 Those in favor of the new rule show by 7 hands. What?

8 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: I
9 misunderstood.

10 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Just on 11 this issue here?

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: On the issue
13 of 10 days, drop dead, the old procedure, just 14 this particular part of it. Does everybody 15 understand what that is?

16 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah, but when 17 you say "new rule," I get confused.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The new rule
19 is what's written here.

20 MR. ORSINGER: You understand
21 we've already voted that for matters that 22 arise within 10 days you can file them within 23 the 10 days. Scott has got a proposal on the 24 table that's different even from an earlier
25 vote.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I'm not
2 talking about that particular point right now.

3 MR. ORSINGER: Okay.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Does the 5 judge have to stop, but the consequence of 6 that is there's a 10-day drop-dead?

7 MR. ORSINGER: Right.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Or do we go
9 with the new proposition here without regard 10 to whether a ground that comes up within 11 10 days can be raised? We'll get to that 12 later.

13 Okay. Right now, as far as old rule or 14 new rule, those in favor of the present rule 15 show by hands.

16 MR. HAMILTON: That's the old
17 rule, folks.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Four. Old
19 rule. Four.

20 Those opposed, or those in favor of the 21 new rule show by hands. Seven. Okay.

22 MS. DUDERSTADT: Eight.

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Eight. Eight
24 in favor of what Judge Brister has proposed.

25 MR. ORSINGER: Well, gosh,

1 Luke, that wasn't the way I -- that wasn't why
2 I voted negative. We really have three 3 choices. We have the previous choice that we 4 had considered, which is that you are required
5 to raise something that exists and you know
6 about it. You are required to raise something 7 that exists more than 10 days in advance of 8 the hearing. You are required to raise that 9 more than 10 days in advance. If it occurs
10 after the 10th day, then you are free to raise 11 it later.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, that
13 was parked on the side for this last vote.

14 MR. ORSINGER: Pardon me.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. So the 16 judge has 20 days and no restraints on his 17 actions in those 20 days. Okay.

18 MR. ORSINGER: Maybe this is 19 out of order, but if there is something that a 20 party has known about for six months, I don't 21 think they should be able to file it on the 22 first day of trial. It seems to me that there 23 ought to be -- but that vote has been subsumed
24 in another vote, or have we not yet discussed
25 that?

1 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: This is
2 an issue that will or will not stop the 3 trial. They know that the judge owns stock, 4 but they --

5 MR. ORSINGER: Well, the thing
6 that occurs to me about the difference between 7 your draft and what our subcommittee had done
8 is that you do not say someone has waived a 9 complaint by failing to raise it 10 days
10 before even if they knew about it 10 days
11 before. We did. Our subcommittee said if you 12 knew about it and you didn't do something
13 about it, you waived it. But if it came up 14 within the 10-day period, then you didn't 15 waive it.

16 So now lots of people are going to be 17 filing things at the last minute, and the 18 judge is going to have the power to continue 19 on and you won't know until the trial is over 20 whether it's a good trial or not. Or do I 21 misunderstand the mechanism?

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well, I
23 mean, what comes up at the last minute? That 24 the other side hires the judge's son?

25 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah. That's

1 what got us off on this, was Judge Bleil's --

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
3 that stopped. That ain't bias, prejudice or 4 material witness. That's family is a lawyer.

5 MR. ORSINGER: And therefore 6 the judge cannot continue on?

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It doesn't 8 say that.

9 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: No,
10 that's exactly what it does.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, where 12 does it say that?

13 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It says
14 under "Interim Proceedings, A judge may 15 proceed with the case if a motion to recuse
16 alleges only grounds listed in (b)(1), (b)(2)
17 or (b)(3). If you allege something in (b)(8), 18 which is they hired the judge's son, which is 19 other grounds, the judge must take no other 20 further action, just the same as it is.

21 MR. ORSINGER: And you're 22 comfortable if someone knew that one of those 23 other grounds existed even for six months?
24 You're comfortable with them raising that on 25 the day of trial and bringing everything to a

1 screeching halt?

2 MR. HAMILTON: Well, it doesn't
3 bring it to a halt.

4 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah, it does.
5 The only thing he can proceed on is 6 impartiality, statements, biased, material
7 witness. But if you had knowledge that the 8 judge expressed an opinion concerning the 9 matter while an attorney general or 10 consanguinity or something like that, it does 11 bring it to a screeching halt.

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
13 several things. Number one, most of the 14 things other than (1), (2) or (3) I already 15 know about. It's not a surprise that -- you
16 know, maybe, you know, there is with the stock 17 of my cousin or something; but number two, if 18 you get into the "what did you know and when 19 did you know it," then the main witness at 20 these hearings is opposing counsel. And one
21 thing that judges who try these things tell me 22 is the thing that's distasteful about them is 23 all the witnesses are not people who have any 24 knowledge of the facts, it's just calling the 25 judge and harassing opposing counsel and all

1 of the things that make satellite litigation
2 bad to get into what somebody knew and when 3 they knew it.

4 So you know, and again, if the judge's
5 son is on the case, number one, I probably 6 knew it before; but number two, even if I 7 didn't, you know, we need to think about that 8 before we reach a verdict on that and come up
9 with another Texas justice for sale deal.

10 MR. ORSINGER: Well, the truth
11 is, you're more concerned about abuse of this 12 as a disguised motion for continuance than I 13 am.

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yes.

15 MR. ORSINGER: If you're 16 comfortable that you can withstand people
17 trying to stop your trial on those grounds,, 18 you know, they knew it six months in advance,
19 then I don't care. But it just seems to me 20 it's still subject to that abuse, but if 21 you're not concerned about it, I'm going to 22 shut up.

23 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: The
24 things other than the first three, Judge
25 Peeples hit it exactly right, those always

1 come up after the trial when you lose. That's 2 when they start looking around for that 3 stuff. They don't -- you know...

4 MR. ORSINGER: Then I'm going
5 to withdraw my concerns, because apparently 6 they're not well placed.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Anything else
8 on this, Judge, that we need to look at?

9 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Just a
10 few others. On (d), which is the equivalent 11 of 18a, the procedure, that replaces the 12 correct title of the presiding judge.

13 Yes. The time limits on (d)(4)
14 requires -- well, (d)(2) says the judge that 15 the motion is filed on recusal has to rule 16 promptly. (d)(4) says the presiding judge has 17 to set a hearing within 20 days. And I 18 thought I had a requirement for how fast the 19 ruling had to be made, but maybe I don't.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. If the 21 judge who is challenged under (1), (2) and (3)
22 decides "I'll wait a couple of weeks to send 23 this over," and he calls the regional judge 24 and says, "Why don't you wait until the 20th 25 day," I've got 34 days. I can get this case

1 tried by then.

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I don't
3 mind making them shorter.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, there's 5 no time for the trial judge who is challenged 6 to send the motion to the regional judge.

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I
8 don't -- you know, if you want to say that 9 same day, that's fine with me.

10 MR. ORSINGER: How about
11 immediately? If they refuse to recuse or 12 disqualify, the judge must immediately refer 13 the motion to the presiding judge.

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
15 the problem is the case that says, well, the 16 judge can hold a hearing, and he takes it
17 under advisement and says, "Well, I'm thinking 18 about." You can drag that out for a long 19 time. I don't mind making them do it that 20 day. I just thought, you know, we may run 21 into problems from the regional judges who 22 say, "I've got to docket of my own to deal 23 with."

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Carl
25 Hamilton.

1 MR. HAMILTON: We discussed
2 this in Court Rules, and our version of the 3 rule requires the filing of the motion with 4 the district clerk and a copy served or 5 delivered to the presiding judge by the lawyer
6 who files it, and then the time started to run 7 from that time.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Time
9 for what? For the trial judge to rule?

10 MR. HAMILTON: For the 11 presiding judge to appoint somebody.

12 MR. ORSINGER: The problem with 13 that, though, Carl, is that you involve the 14 presiding judge even in cases where the trial 15 judge recuses. It would seem to me that if the 16 trial judge is going to recuse, you shouldn't 17 need to bother the administrative judge, 18 because you don't need the administrative 19 judge unless they refuse to recuse.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

21 MR. HAMILTON: Well, I think we 22 had a time limit on that, didn't we, Lee? I 23 think there was a time limit of no more than 24 five dates or something that the trial judge 25 had to make the decision under recusal.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: There's no
2 incentive for a quick resolution here like 3 there is under the 10-day rule. Under the 4 10-day rule, there is an incentive. If the 5 judge wants to get on the case, he's got to 6 get it done. And if the other party wants to 7 get on that case, they've got to get it done.
8 In this case, the case goes on no matter what 9 nonstop.

10 MR. ORSINGER: Well, the delay
11 is not going to occur at the stage of failing 12 to rule on the recusal because the judge is 13 prohibited from taking other action.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Not under 15 (1), (2) and (3). He can do anything he wants 16 to do.

17 MR. ORSINGER: No. Look at 18 (d)(2), "The judge must rule on the motion 19 promptly and prior to taking any other action
20 on the case." Now, that requires them to rule 21 if they want to go on. So the danger of delay 22 occurs between the refusal of the recusal and 23 forwarding the issue to the presiding
24 administrative regional judge.

25 MR. HAMILTON: Oh, yeah, it

1 sure does.

2 MR. ORSINGER: So you've still 3 got to get a quick ruling from your trial 4 judge, where your delay is pulling in the 5 administrative regional judge. And if you
6 say that the trial judge must immediately 7 inform the regional judge and then put the 8 regional judge under a 10- or 20-day time
9 table, then you're moving about as fast as you 10 can, I would think.

11 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You
12 might ought to put -- just one horror story.
13 The one I gave last time as a horror story 14 where the five-year-old case, the motion to 15 recuse was filed last June. The presiding 16 judge appoints somebody to hear the case after 17 Thanksgiving, which is a month after the case 18 was set for trial. And sure enough, at the 19 hearing held at Thanksgiving, the judge said 20 he was going to take it under advisement, take 21 briefs, and would rule two months from then,
22 at which point I finally said I recuse myself 23 voluntarily not even knowing what the case was 24 about anymore. There was no just reason 25 because of me to make a five-year-old case

1 become a six-year-old case. But it is a
2 visiting judge and he's arranging his schedule
3 around when he's going to be in Houston to 4 rule on these things. And you know, if that 5 was me on the receiving end of that, one of 6 the litigants, I would be furious.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What is that 8 time period where the judge must refer the 9 motion?

10 MR. ORSINGER: Why not 11 immediately? What's the delay?

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But what is 13 immediately? Is that this week or next week 14 week?

15 MR. ORSINGER: I see. Within 16 24 hours.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You're
18 assuming I get it within 24 hours.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: "Must refer 20 the motion" -- I'd say, "If a judge refuses to 21 recuse or disqualify, the judge on the date of 22 the ruling must refer the motion."

23 MR. ORSINGER: In my view that 24 would mean orally denying the motion from the 25 bench, because really who cares how long it

1 takes to write up the denial and recusal. All
2 we care about is that the judge says, "I'm not 3 recusing," and then he calls the 4 administrative judge on the phone and says, 5 "We're going to have to have another judge in 6 here."

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So if the 8 judge wants to do a written order, the judge 9 is stayed until the judge gets the written 10 order written and signed.

11 MR. ORSINGER: I don't think it
12 should be. I think the minute the decision is 13 made, it ought to be off to the administrative 14 judge.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: But what if 16 the judge says, "I'll give you my decision in 17 writing"?

18 MR. ORSINGER: And takes it
19 under advisement? He can't take any other 20 action in the case until he rules.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: He is stayed 22 until he rules?

23 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

25 MR. ORSINGER: But we need to

1 make it clearer under (3) that we're talking 2 about a judge who declines to recuse or 3 disqualify so that there's no confusion. It's 4 after you refuse to disqualify or recuse on 5 grounds (1), (2) or (3) that you can then go
6 forward with the case.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, if you
8 do recuse, you can't go forward.

9 MR. ORSINGER: I know. But if 10 you deny a recusal -- but see, it's a little 11 bit ambiguous, because here it says you have 12 to rule before you take other action, but down 13 here it says you can proceed if it's under 14 grounds (1), (2) or (3). Actually the only 15 judge that can proceed under grounds (1), (2)
16 or (3) is the judge that has already refused 17 to recuse or disqualify. All I'm suggesting 18 is that under (d)(3) we say, "A judge who 19 refuses to recuse or disqualify may proceed 20 with the case if a motion"...

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's
22 fine.

23 MR. ORSINGER: But we don't 24 even need "disqualify," do we? We don't need 25 "disqualify" there.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Where,
2 Richard?

3 MR. ORSINGER: In (d)(3). You
4 would just say -- because this only occurs on 5 recusal grounds (1), (2) and (3), so a judge 6 who refuses to recuse may proceed with the 7 case.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's
9 fine.

10 MR. ORSINGER: Do you see that 11 on (d)(3)?

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah.

13 MR. HAMILTON: Luke, back up
14 there under "Referral," if the judge, the 15 trial judge cannot do anything until he rules, 16 if we make his ruling when he signs a written 17 order, that still gives you protection because 18 he can't do anything to until he signs the 19 written order.

20 MR. ORSINGER: What's the point 21 in the delay between the oral ruling and the 22 written signing?

23 MR. HAMILTON: Well, there
24 isn't any point, except that it's just you
25 don't have the confusion of verbal

1 transmissions to the presiding judge. You
2 actually get an order.

3 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: How 4 about the judge must enter an order ruling on 5 the motion promptly prior to taking any other 6 action or must sign an order?

7 MR. HAMILTON: Sign an order,
8 yeah.

9 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: So now
10 (2) would read, "The judge must sign an order 11 ruling" --

12 MR. ORSINGER: Put "promptly"
13 in front of "sign," must promptly sign.

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: No.
15 You can't split the verbs.

16 MR. YELENOSKY: Must sign
17 promptly.

18 MR. ORSINGER: It's not an 19 infinitive. You can only --

20 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You're 21 still not supposed to split the verbs.

22 MR. ORSINGER: I thought you
23 couldn't split an infinitive.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You're
25 not supposed to split either. Ask Bill.

1 Right? "Must promptly sign" splits the 2 verb. You're not supposed to do that.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: "Must rule,"
4 is that a verb?

5 MR. ORSINGER: "Must" is not a
6 verb.

7 MS. BARON: "Must" is a helping 8 verb.

9 MR. ORSINGER: Are you
10 splitting a verb there? Is that bad?

11 MS. BARON: I think it's not 12 preferred.

13 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You
14 could do worse things, Richard.

15 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Sometimes 16 it's okay.

17 MR. HAMILTON: How do you not 18 promptly sign? Do it slowly?

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Why don't we 20 leave it up to the judge to figure that out.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Okay.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: When the 23 judge rules, that day it has to go. The judge 24 ought to be able to figure out if the judge
25 wants to make a written order.

1 Okay. Well, a party that really needs to 2 stop a judge is just going to drop down to (4)
3 through (8) and figure "I'll take my chances 4 on one of those."

5 MR. ORSINGER: Don't we require
6 it to be verified, though, or not?

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah.

8 MR. ORSINGER: They're taking 9 more than just that chance then.

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: No, you
11 don't have to verify it.

12 MR. ORSINGER: You don't? You
13 don't have to verify?

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You've
15 got to state it specifically, why do you think 16 the judge has a financial interest. You
17 cannot just say because the judge has a 18 financial interest. There are several cases 19 on that.

20 MR. ORSINGER: "A motion to 21 recuse must be verified." Right there,
22 (d)(1), the last sentence.

23 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Never 24 mind.

25 MR. ORSINGER: So they're

1 taking -- somebody is taking a risk, because a
2 verification is an oath, right?

3 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Right.
4 Now, you can do it upon information and belief
5 if the grounds of such belief are stated 6 specifically. That's taken entirely from the 7 current rule.

8 MR. ORSINGER: Well, that guts
9 the verification requirement then.

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:
11 Somewhat. But then you've got, you know, why 12 specifically upon information and belief do 13 you think I own stock in HL&P. I mean, that's 14 a risky -- people don't do that. People don't 15 say this unless they have some proof of that.
16 They say bias and prejudice.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.
18 Anything else on this?

19 MR. HAMILTON: Are you on 20 "Hearing" yet?

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah, we're 22 down to there.

23 MR. HAMILTON: Well, I have a 24 couple of things on that.

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. What

1 are they?

2 MR. HAMILTON: First of all,
3 I'd like to see the 20 days changed to 4 10 days. And then the other problem that was 5 brought up that seems to be the major problem 6 in the recusals even in Houston is that the 7 presiding judge assigns the matter to a 8 colleague that sits on the bench with the 9 judge that's being challenged, and the rulings 10 are always in favor of the judge who is being 11 challenged. So it's kind of a farce.

12 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:
13 Actually in Harris County they all go to 14 visiting judges.

15 MR. HAMILTON: Is that right?

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.

17 MR. HAMILTON: Well, the 18 suggestion has been made that they go to 19 out-of-county judges to hear recusals so that 20 you don't have brother-in-law type results.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: You
22 need to talk to the county commissioners
23 before we do that, because they've got to pay 24 for those visiting judges.

25 MR. HAMILTON: Even if it's a

1 sitting judge in another county that the 2 presiding judge sends over there?

3 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
4 then you've got to talk to -- well, when I 5 have to go to another county to hear an 6 attorney discipline case, I get paid for it,
7 my expenses, my travel, by that region. That 8 money comes, again, from the county.

9 Now, again, that is our practice, to use
10 visiting judges in Harris County, but that's 11 because we always have scads of visiting 12 judges there every day anyway. In other 13 counties they don't have that. But they do 14 cost money.

15 MR. HAMILTON: There's a
16 statute on lawyers, for example, that if a 17 lawyer is being tried for some 18 disqualification or disbarment or something, 19 there's a requirement that the judge be from 20 another county that hears that, so it does 21 seem like we ought to have the judge come from 22 a different area than the same county as that 23 judge.

24 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: I guess
25 how you feel about it depends upon how serious

1 you think most of them are. Some of them, if 2 it's just for delay, to bring in somebody from 3 out of county to hear that gives in to the 4 delay. A serious one ought to be taken
5 seriously, of course.

6 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: What do
7 you think about the 10 or 20 days, David?

8 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: I think 10
9 is fine. I'm for short timetables on these.

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Should 11 we have a time limit on how fast the assigned 12 judge has to have a hearing and rule?

13 MR. ORSINGER: Well, you do,
14 because the presiding judge sets the hearing
15 for the assigned judge.

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: But you
17 know, for my cases, the presiding judge 18 assigns that for three and a half months off.

19 MR. ORSINGER: Then you're 20 going to have to mandamus him. This rule says 21 the presiding judge must immediately assign 22 and shall set a hearing within 20 days of the 23 referral. So you're actually making the 24 presiding regional judge set the hearing for 25 the new judge who is coming in.

1 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's
2 the current rule. I think there's actually a 3 statute that requires that.

4 MR. ORSINGER: So you do not 5 need to be concerned about how soon the new 6 judge is set. You just need to be concerned
7 about continuances or whatever he might grant.

8 MR. HAMILTON: Or how soon he 9 rules.

10 MR. ORSINGER: And then how 11 long he takes it under advisement.

12 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: That's not 13 the way it works where I come from. The judge 14 that's assigned to do it gets the assignment
15 and then sets the hearing. You know, you 16 might appoint somebody that's got all kinds of 17 business and can't do it right now. And it's 18 inconceivable to me that the presiding judge 19 is going to say this is going to be heard on 20 Wednesday at 1:30 without checking with 21 whoever you're going to appoint. So the 22 easiest thing to do is to assign them and let 23 them set the hearing.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah, I
25 agree with that, David. The current rule --

1 the reason we do it that way is the current 2 Rule 18a(d) in the middle says the presiding
3 judge of the district shall immediately set a 4 hearing. So I just carried that over.

5 MR. ORSINGER: Well, how do
6 they do it over in Harris County?

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Our 8 administrative judge calls up a visiting judge 9 and says, "When can you hear this?" And they 10 chat, and then the administrative regional 11 judge sends out a notice for a hearing before 12 the assigned judge on X date at X place.

13 MR. HAMILTON: That's because 14 there's no limitation here on when it has to 15 be set.

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
17 And sometimes that's months off.

18 MR. ORSINGER: Well, as a
19 practical matter, wouldn't the presiding judge 20 call the judge they're going to bring in and 21 talk to them about availability before they 22 pick the date and time?

23 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
24 But David's point is, why shouldn't he just 25 assign it to them and let them pick a date if

1 you've got some time limit that makes them do
2 it quicker.

3 MR. ORSINGER: I see.

4 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: This
5 provision for telephone hearings that you've 6 got in here may cut down on some of these 7 delays, Scott.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
9 That was another suggestion. I think that was 10 in the subcommittee's proposal as well. All 11 of the judges I've talked to want to do that.

12 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Yeah. And 13 faxing documents.

14 MR. HAMILTON: How do you do
15 that when you have witnesses?

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER:
17 Telephone conferences.

18 MR. HAMILTON: And they're not 19 sworn or anything?

20 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
21 You have the court reporter where the witness 22 is swear them in.

23 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: By 24 definition, you've got a courthouse situation
25 where the case is, and if the judge is in a

1 different county or somewhere, you get the 2 witnesses and whoever is in Harris County in 3 the courthouse there and have somebody put 4 them under oath and get them on a
5 speakerphone. I mean, in a complicated case
6 it would be hard to do. But in some of these 7 frivolous things, just a standard telephone
8 hearing is wonderful where there are not a 9 whole lot of witnesses and it's just kind of 10 trumped up.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Anne
12 Gardner.

13 MS. GARDNER: I had a question
14 about the last -- well, maybe I'm getting off 15 on an another subject. But in connection with 16 the hearing and the presiding judge's role, 17 the last sentence of (d)(4) -- no, the next to 18 the last sentence where the presiding judge 19 may make such other orders including interim 20 or ancillary relief.

21 What happens if there is a requirement of 22 discovery in connection with the recusal
23 hearing or discovery rulings that need to be 24 made by the -- it seems that this is saying 25 that the presiding judge will take care of

1 matters like that, and it seems like the 2 presiding judge might be busy and that it
3 would be better handled by the judge that's 4 assigned to hear the recusal motion.

5 I'm just curious to know if that 6 contemplates that the administrative judge
7 will handle that. It seems like it's saying
8 that the administrative judge will handle 9 matters like that.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Two judges
11 are empowered to do that at that time, the 12 judge who has been challenged and the 13 presiding judge of the region. They both can 14 do it.

15 MS. GARDNER: Okay. And this 16 just says "and may make such other orders."

17 MR. ORSINGER: Well, should we 18 be limited to those two, or should the 19 presiding judge be able to pick another local 20 judge to handle the interim problem until the 21 visiting judge comes in?

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, the 23 judge on the bench has the power to run his 24 court. We haven't stopped him, except long
25 enough to make a ruling. Why should a

1 presiding judge interfere with his progress if 2 he says, "I'm not recused and I'm not moving"?

3 MR. HAMILTON: But he can't 4 rule except under (1), (2) or (3). Under (4)
5 through (8) he's automatically stopped.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's right.

7 MR. HAMILTON: That's why the 8 presiding judge has to be able to make any 9 emergency rulings in the interim.

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: And I
11 would think when it says that the --

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's not 13 the case under the present rule.

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: No,
15 that is the case under the present rule.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No, the judge
17 who --

18 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Oh, I'm 19 sorry. Yeah.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Even if a 21 judge voluntarily recuses --

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: With 23 regard to the trial judge, yeah.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Even if he 25 voluntarily recuses or if he says no and he

1 sends the motion forward, he can act in 2 emergency circumstances.

3 MR. ORSINGER: Is that better?

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: You voted.

5 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
6 that's -- you know, I don't know that much 7 about family law and I'm usually against 8 making any exceptions for family law, but 9 again, if you make the process go fast
10 enough, well --

11 MR. ORSINGER: This depends so
12 entirely -- I mean, like in San Antonio with 13 our central docket, if you've got a recusal 14 against one judge, you just trot down the 15 hallway and get another one. No big deal.
16 And I would hate to think that because 17 somebody filed a recusal against the judge in 18 one Bexar County district courtroom that we 19 therefore have to find David Peebles, and if 20 he's off in Hawaii, then I can't get another 21 district judge in the whole courthouse to hear 22 an emergency temporary orders hearing or 23 something. It seems to me that --

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: No.

25 Why couldn't -- if the presiding judge can

1 make such other orders including ancillary
2 relief include an order that so and so make 3 interim ancillary orders in my absence?

4 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I would
5 suggest that we say the presiding judge or 6 other judge selected by the presiding judge.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Let's
8 pick a point and stay on it.

9 MR. ORSINGER: Okay.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: What do we 11 want to take up first?

12 MR. ORSINGER: 10 or 20 days.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. 10 or 14 20. Those in favor of 20?

15 10?

16 All the votes are for 10.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Next
18 was whether you have a time limit on how fast 19 the assigned judge has to hear or decide the 20 motion.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, it says
22 shall set a hearing within -- or I thought
23 you --

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: And
25 that's not a time limit. That could be set a

1 year away.

2 MR. ORSINGER: No, I don't
3 think so.

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Oh, I
5 see.

6 MR. ORSINGER: If it's within 7 10 days shall set a hearing --

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Set a hearing
9 to commence before such judge. That's what we 10 mean, isn't it?

11 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yes.
12 That's fine.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And within
14 10 days of the referral.

15 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: So it's 16 just you have a time limit on how fast that 17 judge has to decide.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
19 Those in favor of a time limit show by hands.
20 Those opposed.

21 All are for a time limit. How long?

22 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Any
23 reason for any more than 10 days? Again, this 24 is going into your concern about the case 25 running amuck while this is going on.

1 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: You know,
2 I kind of think that the frivolous one that's 3 almost obviously for delay, you've just got to 4 rely on people to give a quick hearing on that 5 one. I mean, I would be reluctant to set a
6 short, short time fuse and then have it apply 7 to some series motion to recuse that might 8 take some preparation. I'm not sure that one 9 size fits all in this situation.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The idea of 11 this pretty much now is the way these work.

12 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Oh, for 13 taking it under advisement and ruling? Oh, I
14 see.

15 MR. ORSINGER: Or why not grant
16 a continuance or two or three continuances?

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: As far as 18 preparation is concerned, the lawyers that do 19 this in a serious way know they've got to be 20 prepared when they file the motion. You've 21 got to have your ducks in a row because it's 22 probably going to happen fast. They usually 23 happen fast. But with no incentives for it to 24 happen fast, you probably need to put in 25 something that sets the outside deadlines

1 maybe.

2 Okay. How long? Rule within how many 3 days of the hearing?

4 MR. HAMILTON: Five days.

5 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: This is 6 after the hearing you've got to rule? It 7 ought to be immediate.

8 MR. HAMILTON: Immediately?
9 Three days?

10 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I think we 11 ought to use a deadline from the original 12 setting of the administrative judge so that 13 you don't have a problem of three or four 14 resets.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Set a hearing
16 to commence.

17 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I know.
18 So if the lawyer is in a jury trial at the 19 time of that thing, then you're going to have 20 the hearing in their absence?

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That
22 was our discussion. The deal was it would not 23 interfere with the trial and it would take 24 place, for instance, after 5:00 o'clock.

25 MR. ORSINGER: No. I mean in 1 another trial.

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
3 If you want to file that bias and prejudice 4 thing, then you're the one that has to 5 scramble instead of everybody else. Again,
6 it's only bias and prejudice motions.

7 MR. ORSINGER: Well, if I have 8 a heart attack and I'm in the hospital, then 9 my client is pro se.

10 Well, I mean, if we write a rule that the 11 judge can't grant a continuance no matter 12 what, what if we have a tornado or an 13 explosion that destroys the courthouse? I 14 mean, I guess we can do it, but --

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Go back to 16 the old rule.

17 MR. ORSINGER: What if there's 18 an earthquake?

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Do you want
20 to go back to the old rule?

21 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Maybe we 22 ought to write the rule again.

23 MR. ORSINGER: No, no, no. I
24 think that there ought to be some discretion 25 to grant a continuance, but --

1 MR. YELENOSKY: Don't you have 2 a due process argument at that point?

3 MR. ORSINGER: I guess you do.
4 You always do. You can always have a 5 revolution too.

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: How many 7 days? How many days?

8 MR. HAMILTON: Back to 9 Richard's point, maybe we could say that it 10 has to be set within 10 days and shall not be 11 continued except for emergency reasons or 12 something like that.

13 MR. ORSINGER: Or could we not 14 say that it will be resolved within 10 days of 15 that original setting or something like that?
16 Shall set a hearing to commence before such 17 judge within 10 days, and the assigned judge 18 shall resolve the motion within 10 days.

19 MR. HAMILTON: That's all
20 right. That gives a 10-day leeway in there.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: 10 days
22 of what?

23 MR. ORSINGER: Within 10 days
24 of that setting.

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Within

1 10 days thereafter?

2 MR. ORSINGER: So that would 3 give you a maximum of 20 days if everybody was 4 stretching it.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
6 So the assigned judge shall rule within 7 20 days of the referral?

8 MR. ORSINGER: No. That's 9 possible, but I would say within 10 days of 10 when the presiding judge sets it.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, he's 12 got to --

13 MR. ORSINGER: He could set it
14 in three days, in which case you're looking at 15 13 and not 20.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I'm trying to 17 take care of the continuance problem as well.
18 He can set it in three and pass it twice but 19 it's still got to be ruled on within 20 days.

20 MR. ORSINGER: I can live with 21 that. I can live with that.

22 MR. HAMILTON: And if it isn't 23 ruled upon, it's automatically granted.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That sounds
25 like a great idea.

1 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: So
2 within 20 days --

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Why not?

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: So
5 within 20 days of the referral or the motion 6 is granted?

7 MR. ORSINGER: Because the
8 original judge is going to light a fire under 9 the assigned judge or else he's going to look 10 bad.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Or the motion
12 will be deemed granted.

13 MR. ORSINGER: That will get it 14 done.

15 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Now, what's 16 wrong with that?

17 MR. ORSINGER: Nothing. That's 18 a brilliant idea.

19 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: My 20 colleagues ain't going to like that.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's a
22 pocket veto. That gives the assigned judge a 23 pocket veto, which he might want. What's 24 wrong with that? Is anybody opposed to that?

25 MR. ORSINGER: I think the

1 original judge is going to be damn sure that 2 it gets ruled on within 10 days, is what I
3 think.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Or the motion
5 is deemed granted.

6 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
7 the original judge -- believe me, I was as 8 incensed as everybody else was by this 9 six-month delay. But I can't call up the 10 assigned judge or my presiding judge and say, 11 "What do you think you're doing? Rule on 12 this faster."

13 MR. ORSINGER: You could tell
14 him, "If you don't rule on it, I'm going to be 15 recused by operation of law." That's a 16 legitimate thing to say to a colleague.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I can't 18 light a fire under anybody or risk I'm going 19 to be called as a witness as proof of my bias
20 that I'm trying to ramrod these people.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Let's get a 22 handle on this. Rule within 20 days of the 23 referral. Does anybody disagree? Nobody 24 disagrees.

25 Okay. Or the motion shall be deemed

1 granted. Does anybody disagree with that?

2 No disagreement.

3 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Deemed 4 granted by operation of law.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.
6 Anything else on this?

7 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I would
8 like to make it clear that the presiding judge 9 can assign him or herself, right?

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah.

11 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Right.

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's clear.

13 MR. ORSINGER: Well, it says
14 "another judge." That means another besides 15 the trial judge and that includes him or 16 herself, right?

17 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Do we want
18 to say anything about the right to object to 19 an assigned judge as opposed to filing a 20 motion to recuse?

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, that's 22 by statute.

23 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Not in 24 this circumstance, I don't think.

25 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, yeah.

1 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Does
2 somebody have the right under the existing 3 law, Luke, to object to the presiding judge
4 himself if he assigns himself?

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Sure.

6 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: On what 7 grounds? This rule predates 74. This was the 8 law before 74 ever came in.

9 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That
10 visiting judge thing refers specifically to 11 visiting judges and this ain't a visiting 12 judge. This is an assigned judge, and it's 13 not assigned under that Government Code 14 section.

15 MR. ORSINGER: But if your 16 presiding judge is a retired or former judge, 17 does the statute not apply?

18 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's 19 an interesting problem about visiting judges.
20 The practice in Harris County has been you 21 can't -- that this procedure is governed by 22 18a and 18b and you can't object to the 23 regional judge; you can't object to the 24 assigned judge. I suppose you could -- well, 25 I suppose you could object to the assigned

1 judge if the assigned judge was disqualified
2 or recused under the rule itself.

3 MR. ORSINGER: Well, sure.

4 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: But object
5 is different from recuse, you know; you file a
6 motion.

7 MR. ORSINGER: But what makes 8 you think that a rule means -- that a 9 statutory right that you're given by the 10 legislature is trumped by a rule?

11 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Richard,
12 that says when judges are assigned under 13 Chapter 74 you've got a right to object. It 14 doesn't say whenever. I mean, election 15 contests, for example.

16 MR. ORSINGER: Okay.

17 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: You had 18 assigned judges before Chapter 74 ever was 19 enacted, and there was no right to object.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

21 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: And you
22 had contempt hearings.

23 Now, the Supreme Court did hold a few
24 months ago, when there was a recusal motion
25 filed and the presiding judge sent in a

1 visiting judge, I think it was a defeated
2 judge, I think, somebody who hadn't served 3 very long, they held there was a right to 4 object to him.

5 MR. HAMILTON: I think that's 6 right, they did.

7 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Yeah. But 8 that wasn't the presiding judge, it wasn't an 9 active judge, it was somebody who had lost an 10 election not too long before. So I'm just 11 wondering if we ought to try to deal with that 12 here.

13 I personally think that there has to be 14 somebody who can go in and hear these things
15 and not be hassled with an objection. I don't 16 go so far as to say that anybody that the 17 presiding judge wants to assign, you know, you
18 can't object to him. But there's no end to it 19 if they can just say, "Well, I object to 20 you."

21 "Here is somebody else."

22 "Well, I object to him too."

23 MR. ORSINGER: Well, I mean,
24 you only get one -- if it's a former judge,
25 you can only strike one of them.

1 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: And here
2 is the problem on that: If it's a multiparty 3 case, you can say, "Okay. Now, Plaintiff A is 4 objecting to so and so, and defendant so and 5 so" -- in big cases this can be a problem
6 where there are a lot of parties.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Everything
8 that's important we need to do. We have piles
9 of work to do. We can continue to have ideas 10 about how to fix this that are not here now or 11 we can go on with this, Judge, but we've got 12 gobs of work to do.

13 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Well,
14 Luke, let me just tell you, you're talking 15 about importance, and I raised this with the 16 nine presiding judges, and that was one of the 17 top two things they were interested as far as 18 parties, the ability to send somebody in who 19 can't be objected to. Recused, yeah, if there 20 are grounds for recusal. But the person who 21 is trying to delay something has every 22 incentive to just keep on objecting. And if 23 it's a multiparty case, they've got more than 24 one objection. And here is somebody that's 25 traveled in to hear the thing, and "Well, we

1 object to you."

2 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, it
3 looks to me like under 74.121 -- is that it?
4 No.

5 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: I think
6 it's 054 or 056.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: It's 053. If 8 it's an assigned judge other than a former 9 judge or justice who is not retired, this 10 chapter probably doesn't apply. But it looks 11 like paragraph (d) is not burdened with 12 whether it's assigned under this chapter. I
13 guess it's up to the Supreme Court to decide.

14 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Well, they 15 didn't talk about that. They just didn't 16 recognize there was an issue. But they did 17 hold, and I think it's Flores vs. Banner, that 18 the person, you know, who filed a motion to 19 recuse had the right to object to a former 20 judge.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. So
22 what's the proposition so we can get on with 23 this?

24 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Well, if 25 you just look at the side by side thing that

1 Scott Brister has got, the original (c) -- 2 well, let's see, no. (d) says the presiding
3 judge can send himself in. I don't think 4 we've got that expressly in the rewritten 5 rule, do we?

6 MR. ORSINGER: No. That's why
7 I asked is it inferential that they can assign 8 themselves.

9 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah.
10 And we can add that back in.

11 MR. ORSINGER: Because it does 12 say "another judge," and does "another" mean 13 another besides the trial judge or another 14 besides the presiding judge?

15 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Give me
16 a better way to say it then.

17 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Well, look 18 at original (d) or existing (d), the second 19 half of that.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I can do it
21 with one word. In paragraph (4), "The 22 presiding judge of the region shall 23 immediately hear or assign another judge to 24 hear the motion."

25 MR. ORSINGER: All right.

1 That's good.

2 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Fine.

3 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Good.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

5 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I only 6 have one more substantive thing, if you're 7 ready for that.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

9 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: And
10 that is the one all of you all that were 11 preaching to me about the Constitution and 12 that we stick with their language, I want to 13 see how you handle this, and that is in (5).

14 The Constitution says for a fact that if 15 the judge is disqualified, the parties can 16 consent to appoint a proper person to try the 17 case, and only if they fail to do so is 18 somebody else assigned to hear their case.
19 Now, that is not what the current rule says, 20 but that is without a doubt what the 21 Constitution says.

22 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Do you have 23 the reference to that constitutional
24 provision, Judge?

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It's on

1 the next page right behind my side by side.

2 MR. ORSINGER: What does that
3 mean?

4 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: "When a
5 judge of the District Court is disqualified by 6 any of causes above stated, the parties may,
7 by consent, appoint a proper person to try 8 said case."

9 MR. ORSINGER: So that means
10 without the approval of the presiding judge?

11 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It
12 doesn't say anything about that, Richard, but 13 that's what it says.

14 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: From 1891.

15 MR. ORSINGER: Does it have to 16 be a lawyer?

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It just 18 says "a proper person." It doesn't have to be 19 a judge, I wouldn't think.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I don't think
21 so. I don't think any person is competent,
22 but maybe it is. I don't know. Well, that's 23 there. We can't amend that.

24 So what is your concern, Judge?

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: I've

1 written it into my new rule. "The parties may 2 by consent appoint a proper person to try the 3 case."

4 MR. MEADOWS: Does that mean by 5 agreement?

6 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: By 7 consent, yeah. They've got to agree on 8 somebody to try the case.

9 MR. ORSINGER: The truth is,
10 doesn't it take the act of some judicial 11 officer to empower someone to do this?

12 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: The 13 Constitution has already done it.

14 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: All I'm 15 telling you is what the Constitution says, and 16 it says "the parties may appoint."

17 MR. HAMILTON: I think that's a 18 good provision. As a practical matter, the 19 presiding judges usually try to get the 20 parties to agree to avoid all of these 21 objections under the government code. If 22 everybody agrees, they just appoint him, and 23 then that saves a lot of problem. So I don't 24 see any problem with having that in there. It 25 encourages the parties to agree on something.

1 MR. ORSINGER: I would like to 2 ask, we've got the district court language in 3 here, and surely this is not limited for any 4 particular reason to district courts. It
5 ought to just be "If a judge is disqualified."

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: No. This 7 constitutional provision only applies to 8 district judges.

9 MR. ORSINGER: Is that true?

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yes.

11 MR. ORSINGER: Well, then how
12 is anybody going -- is a district judge ever 13 going to be replaced? Because the second 14 sentence is derivative of the district court
15 too.

16 CHAIRMAN SOULES: "Failing such 17 consent and in all other instances," so that 18 would be all over.

19 MR. ORSINGER: Okay. So you're 20 saying that "provided the parties" only 21 applies to a district judge and not a county
22 court at law judge?

23 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's what 24 it says.

25 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,

1 the second sentence applies to all the 2 appellate courts.

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, have we 4 rewritten 18c? Isn't that the one that goes
5 to -- no. That's over in the Appellate Rules
6 now. Okay. What else?

7 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That's
8 it.

9 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: When the 10 term "district court" is used in the 11 Constitution, that's not altogether clear that 12 it means exclusively, you know, a district 13 court denominated as such and not legislative 14 courts exercising district court
15 jurisdiction. So maybe we read too close to 16 the page when we read the term "district
17 court."

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: I guess we're 19 using the term "district court" in the same
20 way here as in the Constitution.

21 MR. ORSINGER: So it could mean
22 a statutory county court exercising district
23 court jurisdiction, you think?

24 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: I think, 25 yes.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Or an El Paso
2 County Court at Law which has concurrent 3 jurisdiction with the district courts.

4 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: The same
5 thing for the right to jury --

6 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Those 7 in favor of 18a as modified in our discussions
8 here today show by hands. Nine.

9 Those opposed.

10 MS. McNAMARA: Luke, can I
11 explain why I voted against it?

12 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Nine to one.
13 That's Anne McNamara, and you may.

14 MS. McNAMARA: What we've done
15 here with this consanguinity business, I 16 realized after we took the break, is that if 17 any judge's brother-in-law has Advantage 18 Miles, he's got to recuse himself. And if any 19 judge's brother-in-law has Continental 20 Frequent Flyer Miles, he's going to have to 21 recuse himself.

22 We're going to have real trouble in the 23 State of Texas, and I don't think we want to 24 do that. And I come back to the distinction
25 between siblings and spouses. And to me,

1 that's an economic interest or a financial 2 interest. There's no way to divest because 3 there's no after-market that's legal, so the 4 only way to cure the problem is to talk your 5 brother-in-law, who you may or may not be 6 speaking to, into giving up his Frequent Flyer 7 Miles. I don't think we intend that.

8 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
9 the current rule is, if you bring that to the 10 judge's attention and the judge says "I didn't 11 know" and you're new in the case, the judge 12 has to recuse under the current rule.

13 I mean, I've never thought about Frequent
14 Flyer Miles. That's a problem, but you know, 15 that's not a problem created by my rule, my 16 proposals, you know, and the things we've 17 discussed. That's just -- if that's a 18 financial interest, I would think somebody is 19 going to have to --

20 MR. MEADOWS: Is your new rule
21 limited to first degree?

22 MS. McNAMARA: It's the degree
23 issue that troubles me.

24 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Third
25 degree. Financial interest is third degree.

1 The current rule is third degree. The only 2 change I suggested in that was to drop the 3 distinction about knowing and not knowing 4 about it.

5 MS. McNAMARA: Well, we voted,
6 so that's all.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, for the 8 record, I think that there is certainly room
9 to debate whether or not Frequent Flyer Miles 10 are an economic interest. There may not even 11 be room to debate that they are, in my 12 judgment. I don't know the answer to that.

13 Okay. Let me see now, that wraps up old 14 18b, right?

15 MR. ORSINGER: (a) and (b).

16 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: 18a and 17 18b go into one rule.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: (a) and (b)
19 in one rule. And we're deliberately dropping 20 out all of the definitions in section (4)?

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: As I
22 pointed out, the definitions are all word for 23 word from the code, and I suggest just that 24 rather than repeating them all we just have 25 the little paragraph I put in there that the

1 financial interest -- I'll be happy to change
2 it back to "financial interest" -- it means
3 the same thing it does in the code.

4 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Code? Which 5 code?

6 MR. ORSINGER: The Code of 7 Judicial Conduct.

8 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And where is 9 that in the Code of Judicial Conduct?

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: It's in 11 Canon 8. The definitions are taken word for 12 word from Canon 8.

13 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Scott,
14 what happened to existing paragraph (h), 15 sanctions for frivolous motions? I meant to 16 ask that.

17 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Yeah, I
18 guess that --

19 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: I want to 20 reconsider my vote if that's not in it.

21 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: That --
22 well, that I left out under our previous 23 discussion about whether we put sanctions in 24 every rule or whether we put it in one general 25 rule. I thought the decision was to put it in

1 one rule unless we do something like we did on 2 the summary judgment rule today where it's a 3 different standard in summary judgment on that 4 (i) rule. It's just objectively reasonable or 5 unreasonable rather than bad faith or 6 harassment, et cetera.

7 MR. ORSINGER: We don't 8 actually have a sanctions rule anymore. We 9 let that go because we had a statute.

10 HON. SCOTT A. BRISTER: Well,
11 I'm sorry, yeah. And certainly the Civil 12 Practice and Remedies Code covers that. If 13 this motion is filed in bad faith or for 14 purposes of harassment, it's covered.

15 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Is there 16 any sentiment for putting (h) back into the 17 new one? Nobody is for that?

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. The 19 vote stands. Any change? Okay. We're done 20 with 18a and 18b.

21 Let me see the agenda for the meeting.
22 Tomorrow what we've got left to do is the 23 remainder of Richard's report, Alex's report 24 and Paula's report. I mean, we've got 25 14 items. Do you think we can finish Alex's?

1 MR. ORSINGER: No. You can't 2 finish the discovery agenda today, can you,
3 Alex?

4 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: We got 5 pretty close this morning.

6 MS. DUDERSTADT: She's only got 7 10 pages left.

8 MR. ORSINGER: Only 10 pages
9 left? Oh, well, let me follow her then until 10 we run out of time. I've got to leave 11 tomorrow at 10:00 because I have to lecture at 12 that course, so I'd like to try to get my 13 agenda done. And then Alex is going to do our 14 venue rule tomorrow. After we get through 15 covering our dispositions, Alex will do our 16 venue rule.

18 what's your proposal?

19 MR. ORSINGER: Alex will do
20 discovery right now, the rest of discovery.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. And 22 that's what tab?

23 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: And I only 24 need one matter to be covered tomorrow to make 25 adjustments.

1 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. So
2 tomorrow we're going to do Dorsaneo and 3 then --

4 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: Well,
5 really mine and Alex's are the same thing, 6 because I have venue, and venue is the biggest 7 part of that Section 3, but there's one other 8 issue in there.

9 MR. ORSINGER: Then let's take 10 up Bill and Alex's venue thing first and then 11 the disposition table after that until I have 12 to leave or until I finish.

13 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And you want
14 to do your disposition table today. So we're 15 starting right here, right?

16 MR. ORSINGER: We're on the 17 second supplement now, aren't we?

18 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: We are on 19 Page 27 of the disposition chart, Supplement
20 Page 370.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Here
22 we go.

23 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Okay.
24 Page 370, James Guess, Texas Association of 25 Defense Counsel, wants time limitations the

1 same for all parties and not by sides. We 2 agreed to keep it by sides, but we amended
3 Rule 1 to allow the court to modify the hours
4 so no one side as an unfair advantage.

5 Page 372. This is Eric Hirtriter.

6 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Alex,
7 which one of these are you on?

8 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: I'm now on 9 at the top of Page 28 of the Rule 166
10 Disposition Chart.

11 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Thanks.

12 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: This is a 13 letter concerning allowing a videographer to 14 replace a certified court reporter. We've 15 already addressed these issues previously, and 16 our rules have a new rule for nonstenographic 17 recording.

18 Page 377 from James Guess of Texas
19 Association of Defense Counsel wants telephone 20 depositions only by agreement of parties, and 21 a video deposition should be required to have 22 a stenographic record. We rejected this, and 23 we now have a new rule for nonstenographic
24 recordings of depositions.

25 Page 379, James Guess, Texas Association

1 of Defense Counsel, objects to Section 4 of 2 Rule 204 and wants proper objections permitted
3 without limitations. We have rejected that.
4 We have Rule 15 of our Discovery Rules which 5 allows only certain deposition objections.

6 He feels that any requirement of 7 automatic disclosure should at least require a 8 request and not have an automatic disclosure.
9 Our proposed Discovery Rules do not require 10 automatic disclosure. We have standard 11 requests for disclosure.

12 Page 381, from Michael Domingue, a court 13 reporter, proposing that we track the federal 14 rule regarding signature by a witness. I have 15 here that we did not address this, and to see 16 our proposed Discovery Rule 16.

17 David Jackson, what do you think?

18 MR. JACKSON: Well, this 19 Michael "Domingue" who is a court reporter,
20 it's Michael Domingue.

21 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Oh, okay.

22 MR. JACKSON: And it really is 23 more an effort to sell copies, quite honestly, 24 to try to protect the original so it doesn't 25 get xeroxed.

1 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Okay. So
2 it's protection of original. And what we have 3 done is kept it -- we've kept it so that the 4 party with the original has to make it
5 available for copies?

6 MR. JACKSON: Right.

7 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: So I guess
8 we did address it, and we suggested no change.

9 MR. JACKSON: Right.

10 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Page 672,
11 we're now on the second supplement. We have 12 moved to the second supplement, Page 672.
13 This is from Michael Paul Graham of Houston.
14 Defendant should not have to identify expert 15 until 90 days after the plaintiff produces 16 expert. See Proposed Discovery Rule 10, which 17 sets out the schedule for identification of 18 experts.

19 Second Supplement Page 200, Bruce
20 Williams of Midland, we don't need our new 21 Discovery Rules. Our response was that we 22 feel our rules will limit the cost and the 23 amount of discovery. We definitely addressed 24 whether we should have no change at all.

25 Second Supplement Page 202, we're now to

1 Second Supplement Page 202. This is a letter
2 from Jim Arnold of Austin. Summary of facts
3 known by persons with knowledge of relevant
4 facts should be discoverable. We've addressed 5 that in previous letters.

6 Maintain 30 days before trial to lock in 7 discovery. We have maintained the 30 days as 8 a last time to supplement discovery, but we've 9 also added a reasonably prompt requirement for 10 supplementation of discovery in Rule 5.

11 CHAIRMAN SOULES: On No. 1
12 there, "Summary of the facts known should be 13 discoverable," we put a limitation on that in 14 the Texas rules, right?

15 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: What we 16 done is the rule allows people to discover the 17 identified person's connection to the case.

18 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Good.

19 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: The third
20 point he raises is most cases don't need a 21 scheduling order. Our rules don't require 22 every case to have a scheduling order. We 23 have our three-tier system in Rule 1.

24 He doesn't like the three- to six-hour
25 deposition limit, likes the overall cap

1 instead. We do have an overall cap, and in 2 subsequent rule drafts and in the one we sent 3 to the Supreme Court, one deposition can be 4 longer than the three- and six-hour
5 limitation.

6 Page 205.

7 CHAIRMAN SOULES: The chair is 8 going to assume agreement with the Committee
9 unless someone raises an issue as we go 10 throughout the report here. That's been the 11 case as we go.

12 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Right.
13 That's the way we handled it this morning.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

15 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Page 205.
16 If we have $50,000 case discovery limits, we 17 need to amend our pleading rules to allow 18 pleaded damage amount. That has been 19 addressed by the pleadings subcommittee.

20 Page 207. Gary Nickelson, concern for 21 family law cases with discovery cutoff and 22 deposition time limits. When this letter was 23 received, the members of the subcommittee met 24 with some family law representatives and 25 reached a consensus on the application of the 1 Discovery Rules to family law cases. And the 2 decision was made that family law cases are no 3 more complex nor time sensitive than many 4 other cases, and so we did not want to make 5 family law exceptions.

6 Page 211. This letter from Jim Loveless
7 was addressed at the same meeting. He was 8 concerned with the new privilege rule. With 9 our proposed Rule 4, we believe that his 10 concerns are not well founded based upon our 11 privilege rule, and that the information that 12 he's worried about is protected under that 13 rule.

14 Page 213, from the Locke Purnell
15 Litigation Section, object to Proposed 16 Discovery Rule 15, time limits and conduct 17 limitations. We debated this issue at length, 18 and the group voted to have the time limits 19 and the conduct limitations to decrease the 20 expense and amount of discovery.

21 Page 216, Doyle Curry for the Court Rules
22 Committee. The Court Rules Committee proposal 23 for discovery, we gave this rule and all of 24 the Court Rules Committee's proposals
25 substantial consideration. Some of the ideas

1 in this proposal are included in our package
2 and some are not.

3 Page 225. This is another letter by 4 Doyle Curry for the Court Rules Committee.
5 Same response as the previous letter.

6 The next letter is about 166a. I'd 7 prefer to defer this until we take the rule 8 that we passed today and compare it to these 9 letters, so we will defer this one.

10 Page 242, the Court Rules Committee's 11 proposed amendments. It's the same response 12 that we gave to 216. We gave these 13 substantial consideration.

14 Page 246 is a letter from Cherry Williams 15 of Corpus Christi dated July 8th, 1984. She 16 has several different concerns about the 17 discovery rules.

18 Begin the discovery period after all
19 defendants have filed answers. We addressed 20 this earlier and we rejected that.

21 Extend discovery period to one year
22 rather than six months. Our current proposal 23 is nine months' discovery period.

24 (3). No trial setting until 30 or 25 45 days after discovery is completed. We

1 addressed that one earlier. We did not 2 address trial settings.

3 (4). Court modification only upon good
4 cause without agreement of the parties. See 5 Proposed Discovery Rule 2, modification for 6 good reason.

7 (5). Doesn't like limits per side.
8 We've addressed this several times.

9 (6). How to handle depositions with a 10 translator on time limits. This was not 11 addressed in these proposed rules, although we 12 did discuss it. You get an agreement or court 13 order under Proposed Rule 2 to deal with this 14 specific problem if you have a translator in a 15 deposition.

16 (7). Allow parties to adopt each others
17 interrogatory answers. I say here "not 18 addressed," but actually I think what that is 19 is the same issue that we've addressed several 20 times where our rules do require people to 21 identify their own witnesses and own experts.
22 This issue has been brought up in several 23 different letters, so we rejected this 24 proposal.

25 No. 8. Supplementation without

1 verification. We accepted that.

2 Time periods for experts too short --

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: That's in the 4 currently proposed rule, the supplementation
5 without verification?

6 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Right,
7 that's in the proposed rule.

8 (9). She's concerned that time periods
9 for experts are too short. We've addressed 10 that earlier. We set out a deadline in our 11 rule after substantial debate.

12 No. 11. Why is corporate rep provision 13 in depositions eliminated? It was not 14 eliminated. It's in Proposed Discovery Rule 15 15(2)(c).

16 (12). The nonstenographic recording
17 should only be by agreement. We've addressed 18 that in several other letters as well.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: And said?

20 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: And said
21 we have rejected this; that you can have -- 22 you can notice a nonstenographic recording but 23 you can't use the transcript as evidence 24 unless it is transcribed by a court reporter.

25 (13). Doesn't like deposition conduct

1 limits. We debated that at length and decided 2 to have deposition conduct limits. But there
3 were some changes since her letter.

4 Page 251. James Brister of --

5 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: -- 6 San Antonio.

7 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: --

8 San Antonio suggests amending the rules to 9 state that supplementation of discovery 10 responses must follow the same rules and 11 procedures as provided for the original 12 response. We debated it and decided that 13 supplementation need not be verified in 14 Rule 5.

15 Page 253. More Court Rules Committee
16 proposals. Once again, we considered the 17 Court Rules Committee proposals extensively 18 and adopted some of their proposals and some 19 of we didn't.

20 Page 264. Opinion of the attorney
21 general about stipulating that a deposition be 22 taken by a person other than a certified court 23 reporter when this conflicts with the 24 Government Code. We addressed this in 25 connection with an earlier letter. In our

1 rules we say that depositions can be taken
2 before anyone as provided by law.

3 270 is a repeat of a previous letter.

4 275 through 315 are Court Rules Committee
5 proposals. And again, we gave those 6 substantial consideration.

7 Page 316. Would like to see -- this is 8 by Leonard Cruse. Leonard Cruse would like to 9 see some changes to control the request for 10 unnecessary documents. We did not 11 specifically make changes that would limit 12 discovery of documents, but we felt like the 13 rules as an entire package would decrease the 14 cost and the amount of discovery.

15 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: But did we 16 do anything on documents at all?

17 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: We did not 18 do anything to limit the scope of discovery of 19 documents, no. What we did is we made more 20 clear when and where to respond and how to 21 produce electronic data and that sort of 22 thing.

23 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: This
24 next -- they're on the same topic, and the 25 next one by Mike Milligan sounds like he's

1 suggesting we go back to the motion to produce 2 and put the burden on the asking party rather 3 than the resisting party?

4 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Right.
5 And I think there was another request. I 6 think Luke Soules had an earlier letter in 7 here about changing the burden for all 8 discovery requests, and we did not adopt that.

9 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Is that 10 something this Committee might come back to at 11 a future date? This isn't definitive action 12 today, is it?

13 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: As of now,
14 the Committee action has been not to change 15 the burden, but --

16 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: I just 17 want the record to be clear that we haven't 18 devoted very much time at all to that issue of 19 documents. We dealt with everything but 20 documents.

21 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Well, in 22 the subcommittee we did. I remember early in 23 our discussions we talked about that this 24 could be a possible way to address discovery 25 reform. And our subcommittee had an initial

1 vote very early on in 1993 and decided to go a 2 different way, so I think that's just how it's 3 been.

4 MR. ORSINGER: Of course, as a
5 practical matter, we've sent our Discovery
6 Rules to the Supreme Court, so we would be -- 7 if we were to engage in that discussion, we 8 would be talking about changing something 9 that's already the horse is out of the barn,
10 right?

11 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Right. It
12 may be, Judge Peeples, that we see them come 13 back again and you can raise that. The fat
14 lady has not sung yet.

15 MR. ORSINGER: There are no fat
16 ladies on that court.

17 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: That's 18 true. Page 326. Court Rules Committee
19 proposed amendments to Rule 167. Again, we 20 gave their proposal substantial consideration.

21 Page 336. Tommy Turner from Lubbock
22 suggests deleting the requirement that the 23 question is to precede the answer. We've 24 addressed that several times. In our rules, 25 the question precedes the answer if a disk is

1 sent.

2 Page 338 to 345. These are all the same 3 letters that have been addressed earlier at 4 different places in this disposition table.
5 They're just duplicates. Page 346 is a
6 duplicate. Page 348 is a duplicate.

7 Page 353 is more on Rule 174, 8 bifurcation, which we have not addressed, and 9 Judge Brister is going to look at that for us.

10 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Which one?

11 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Rule 174,
12 down at the bottom of Page 35, Page 353.

13 Page 359 is a duplicate.

14 364 is a Court Rules Committee proposed 15 amendment that we gave substantial 16 consideration to.

17 374 is a duplicate. 379 is a duplicate.

18 384 is a letter from Ken Howard of 19 San Antonio. He proposes amending the rule to 20 clarify how a deposition should be submitted 21 to a witness for signature. This, again, was 22 not addressed. Is this the same issue, David?

23 MR. JACKSON: It's basically
24 the same issue. The rules provide that a copy 25 be submitted if the original never comes

1 back. The only hole that happens is if you've 2 sent the exhibits out, which under the rules 3 you're supposed to do, with the original for 4 the witness to read and have the exhibits
5 available to him, if the original doesn't come 6 back, the exhibits usually don't come back
7 either. And so when you do file the copy, you 8 won't have the exhibits, and it will be up to 9 the lawyers to come up with another set of 10 exhibits.

11 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Yeah. So
12 we did address it.

13 MR. JACKSON: We did address
14 it, and the only hole in it is really the 15 exhibits. But a copy can be filed in lieu of 16 the original.

17 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Okay. So
18 we have addressed it and it is taken care of 19 in Rule 16.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Well, I don't
21 know about that problem. It seems to me like 22 it is incumbent upon the court reporter to -- 23 that the risk is that a duplicate -- that if a 24 copy may need to be furnished, the court 25 reporter should keep a copy of the exhibits at 1 somebody's cost.

2 MR. JACKSON: Well --

3 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Because the 4 deposition isn't complete without the 5 exhibits.

6 MR. JACKSON: Somebody will 7 have the exhibits. We make a copy of the 8 exhibits for you, if you've hired us to do it.
9 You've got a set of the exhibits that we've 10 also attached to the original deposition that 11 went away.

12 What becomes a real problem, if you sent 13 out 100 depositions a day and you copy all of 14 those exhibits and store them, the court 15 reporters would have to have a warehouse to 16 keep all of those exhibits in over the years, 17 never knowing which deposition is not going to 18 come back.

19 CHAIRMAN SOULES: How does it
20 work? You make a set of exhibits with the 21 copy of the depo that goes to counsel?

22 MR. JACKSON: Right. He's got 23 the exact same thing the witness has. The 24 witness gets his original transcript and set 25 of exhibits. He reviews the transcript using

1 the exhibits to refer back to the testimony,
2 the things he testified from. He then signs 3 the deposition and sends it all back to the 4 court reporter, and it goes to the person who 5 asked the first question, and there's no
6 problem.

7 What Ken's problem with this is, if he 8 sends that original out with those exhibits 9 and you have the witness that refuses to 10 return the original, his dog ate it or 11 whatever happened, then no one has anything to 12 file with the court. The rules now provide 13 that a duplicate original or a copy can be 14 prepared by the court reporter, which means he 15 goes back to his computer archives and pulls 16 the deposition off, reprints it, signs it and 17 files it with his affidavit that the original 18 didn't come back in the time limit.

19 That transcript is then used at court, 20 but it won't have the exhibits attached to 21 it. It will be up to you to use your set of 22 exhibits that we've given you with your copy 23 of the deposition, if you need the exhibits.

24 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. As 25 long as the court reporter sends a set of

1 exhibit copies to the custodial attorney, then 2 that should be okay. I guess there are 3 circumstances where the custodial attorney
4 might not order or no attorney might order.
5 All attorneys might say, "Don't copy the 6 exhibits for our copies of the deposition
7 transcript." So the court reporter then does 8 what?

9 MR. JACKSON: If they say that,
10 it's usually because they've got a set of 11 exhibits, and that has happened too where 12 they've copied their own exhibits and they 13 they don't want another copy.

14 CHAIRMAN SOULES: So you just 15 reconstruct it?

16 MR. JACKSON: Right.

17 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. Well,
18 if it's working, it's working.

19 MR. JACKSON: Yeah. It will 20 save a lot of warehouse space.

21 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay.

22 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: Page 391.
23 From this "declining a request for an 24 opinion," I can't really tell what this is.
25 But I think it's the same issue that we've

1 addressed in previous letters, which we've 2 dealt with. And that's it.

3 PROFESSOR DORSANEO: That was a
4 lot of work. Good job.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Yeah, a lot
6 of work. Does anybody know what this AG thing 7 on 391 is?

8 PROFESSOR ALBRIGHT: I think
9 it's relating to their previous letters.
10 They're talking about a conflict between the 11 statutes and the rules about whether you can 12 agree to get a court reporter -- to get 13 somebody to take a deposition other than a 14 certified court reporter when the statutes say 15 you have to have a certified court reporter.

16 We did address that in our rules, and 17 what we said in our rules is that you can 18 notice a deposition to be taken before anyone 19 authorized by law.

20 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Okay. All
21 right. Good job, Alex.

22 And unless somebody wants to work longer,
23 it's almost 5:30. Do you want to do
24 something, Richard?

25 HON. DAVID PEEPLES: Say no,

1 Richard.

2 MR. ORSINGER: Well, five
3 minutes we spend today is five minutes we 4 don't spend on some other day.

5 CHAIRMAN SOULES: Do you want
6 to try something?

7 MR. ORSINGER: We've got an 8 awfully small group. I'd hate to --

9 CHAIRMAN SOULES: All right.
10 We're here in this room tomorrow. You can 11 leave your things, if you like, and we'll be 12 here at 8:00 o'clock and we'll adjourn at 13 noon. I appreciate all the hard work everyone 14 has done.
